Spring start predicted for golf course

by KURT BAER

Construction could begin next spring on a nine-hole golf course at Central and New Wilke roads in Arlington Heights, but village residents still are probably four years away from teeing-off on their own course dubbed "Lochland Links."

David Gill, golf course architect, presented a preliminary plan for what he called an "executive-type golf course" Monday night. The design features a chain of lakes which will serve as water hazards for the golfers and insurance against future flooding for residents of Surrey Ridge West subdivision.

"It will be a challenging course," Gill said. "Anyone who starts playing here will have to learn to hit the ball straight." A lack of trees on the site, formerly part of the Arlington Heights Nike Base, will be compensated for with the water and sand traps, he said.

EVENTUALLY, THE Arlington Heights Park District hopes to acquire more land from the Army to develop a full 18-hole golf course at the site.

The plan is called an "executive-type golf course," because the total yardage is slightly smaller than for a tournament course, Gill said.

Gill and Arlington Heights' flood-control engineers, Stanley Consultants, compromised on a plan to use the golf course for stormwater flood control.

During heavy rains, water will overflow from the six-foot-deep lakes on the course and flood the fairways. At most times, however, the course will be dry. Tees and greens will be elevated so they will not be flooded.

An exceptionally heavy rain in 1972 caused flooding of 93 homes in Surrey Ridge West, a subdivision official said Monday night. Homeowners were paid a total of $310,000 compensation for flood losses by the U.S. Small Business Administration.

USING THE preliminary plan presented Monday night, Stanley Consultants will draw detailed construction drawings and prepare cost estimates for grading the 52 acres. If those plans are approved and financing agreed to, grading work would start next spring.

Once the course is constructed, it still takes two growing seasons to establish the greens and fairways, Gill said.

Officials spent time discussing the possibility of fencing the golf course or some of the ponds, but they generally agreed that fences would not be necessary or desirable.

JIMMY BARAITA and Jimmy Sarver seem to have decided which item to buy at Saturday's flea market in the Arlington Vista subdivision, Arlington Heights. Proceeds went to help Susan Lark, an 11-year-old victim of bone marrow cancer.

Susan Lark family gets $2,200 in aid

The family of Susan Lark, an 11-year-old victim of bone marrow cancer, is about $2,200 more capable of paying her medical bills as a result of the cooperative efforts of residents in five Arlington Heights subdivisions.

Various families of the Arlington Vista, Tallyrand, Sugarbrook, and Dunroven suddivisions raised Monday Saturday by selling donated goods in a flea market on Lilac Terrace. Children of the Greenbrier subdivision helped by holding a local carnival.

The sale is the latest in a series of fund-raising events which have been held throughout the suburbs this summer to help defray medical costs for Susan. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lark, 1415 Rose Hill Dr., Arlington Heights, had no hospitalization insurance when Susan's disease was diagnosed in July, requiring a leg amputation.

Residents of the area had raised about $2,000 for the family before the flea market. Mrs. Raymond Kielack said Saturday's $2,200 would be the last the residents would be able to raise before the Lark family moved to Canada.

A bingo benefit night to raise more funds for Susan will be held at 7 p.m. Monday at the St. Theresa School Hall, 445 N. Benton St., Palatine.

All proceeds from the night, sponsored by the Schaumburg-Hoffman Estates-Palatine Knights of Columbus and the Palatine Order of the Masonic Lodge, will be donated for Susan. Admission is $1.50 and includes one bingo card. Prizes will be awarded to winners.

Dist. 59 board members vow:

No program cuts if tax vote fails

by JUDY JOBBITT

Residents in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 will not be threatened with massive program cuts if the Sept. 27 tax rate referendum fails.

Board Pres. Judith Zanca Monday said the board does not plan on "retaliatory action" if the referendum is not approved. The board is asking for a 25 cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation education tax rate increase.

Mrs. Zanca referred to the 1971 referendum defeat when the district closed schools to after-school activities such as park district and other community affairs. She said such actions will not result if the referendum fails and that the current education programs will be maintained.

The district is asking for the tax rate increase to raise its tax level to the $1.95 level required by the state to receive maximum state aid. The increase will raise the district above the $1.95 level but will be within the limit set by the state.

MRS. ZANCA SAID the district is going for a 25-cent increase to keep the education programs at their current level and to begin "erasing the debts" in the district.

"We're not threatening the people. We're not saying if they don't pass it (the referendum) the programs will be cut," said Supt. Roger Bardwell. "I recommend that we do at least maintain the education standards. There are all kinds of ways you can raise taxes without a referendum."

"We've solved this year's problems with the teachers' orders," Bardwell said. The district is paying teachers with $1.5 million worth of teachers' orders, a type of promissory note, through November. The orders will be paid back through the sale of bonds which will result in a tax rate increase to residents in the bond and interest fund.

MRS. ZANCA said the district might consider closing some schools in the future because of declining enrollment. Two schools which might be closed, she said, are Grant Wood and Hopkins schools, both in Elk Grove Village. She said Grant Wood also might be made into a sixth grade annex to Grove Junior High School to help that school's overcrowding problem.

Other methods to cope with the district's rising expenses include using second-year tax anticipation warrants or dissolving the working cash fund, said Bardwell. All three options he said are not economical because the district would have to pay interest on the borrowed funds.

The board cut about $480,000 from this year's tentative budget. The adopted $15.5 million budget reflects a 2.2 per cent increase over last year's budget. The district expects a $1.7 million deficit in the education and building funds this year, with deficit spending continuing next year if the referendum fails.

Traffic light device to aid in crises

Arlington Heights is planning to extend its network of special traffic light controls for emergency vehicles by adding Golf and Arlington Heights roads to the list of controlled intersections.

The control, called Opticon, responds to a bright strobe iight on approaching police cars, ambulances and fire trucks.

As the emergency vehicle nears the intersection, traffic lights in all other directions automatically turn red. The system is intended to make passage through the intersection safer and faster for emergency cars.

The controls have been added at major intersections throughout the village, particularly along routes to Northwest Community Hospital such as Arlington Heights and Central roads.

In 1972, when Arlington Heights started the program, it was only the second municipality in Illinois to use the Opticon controls.

Jaycees' benefit to aid hospital

The Arlington Heights Jaycees are sponsoring a weekend of activities at the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel to raise money for a thermoscope unit for Northwest Community Hospital.

A special "get-away" weekend at the hotel, a celebrity golf tournament and a casino night this weekend are the second phase of donations to collect money for the $30,000 breast cancer detection machine.

More than $600 was raised in the last three weeks through collection cans placed in local businesses.

The weekend get-away package includes two nights at the hotel, meals, use of hotel facilities and participation in the Jaycees weekend.

The casino night Friday will have dinner and games of chance at the hotel.

A benefit golf tournament will be Saturday on the hotel course. Participating in the tournament will be Forrest Tucker, Reggie Flemming, Johnny Latner, Bob Del Giorno and others.

Tickets for the weekend package are $68.75 per person. Casino night is $25 per couple and the golf tournament is $10 per person.

All proceeds from the weekend will go toward purchase of the thermoscope. Tickets are available from Jaycees or by calling Wayne Endicott at 358-9416 or 372-6880 ext. 353.

Women to iron while strike is hot?

by WANDALYN RICE and LINDA PUNCH

The National Organization for Women apparently will have a hard time convincing Northwest suburban women to go on strike Oct. 29.

Reactions Monday to NOW's call for a general strike of all women on that day ranged from outright opposition on the part of an Arlington Heights policewoman to a comment from a feminist that the strike is "luxury many of us cannot afford."

NOW has called for women not to work or spend any money on the day of the strike to demonstrate the importance of women in the nation. The strike is being called "Alice Doesn't," a slogan derived from the movie "Alice Doesn't Live Here Any More." Some feminists have said the film deals realistically with the life of a middle-aged woman.

SPECIFICALY, NOW is calling on working women to stay off the job, housewives to stop work at home and all women to avoid shopping for groceries, services or transportation. Women who cannot leave work are being asked to wear an armband to show their support for the strike and to organize activities and demonstrations on their lunch hours.

Local reaction to the strike call varied Monday. Some women who expressed sympathy said they were not sure how complete their participation would be.

Sherry Reynolds, a member of the Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 Board of Education, said she expects to be driving home from the NOW national convention in Philadelphia on the day of the strike. "I don't know if I will be on strike," she said. "My husband and I have a very equal relationship. would certainly cease to do any corporate business."

Sharon Sharp, Elk Grove Township Republican committeewoman, said she opposes the strike. "I don't believe in striking," she said. "I don't think teachers or policemen or firemen should strike, and I think women are pretty much the same."

OTHERS WERE even stronger in their opposition to a strike. Irene Kriegar, an officer on the Arlington Heights Police Dept., said she would "absolutely not" take part. She said, "I don't sympathize with them (NOW) and I don't like what they're doing."

Julie Sass of Elk Grove Village, a delegate to the Democratic Party's Kansas City mid-term convention and as a delegate to the National Women's Political Caucus, said, "I understand and sympathize with the idea behind the strike, because I think we need good visual lessons about our importance, but it seems to me there are women for whom this is a real impossibility."

Ms. Sass, who works for the Northwest Suburban Housing Coalition, said, "I would wear an armband in support and urge everyone I know to wear one, but a strike is a luxury many of us cannot afford."

State Rep. Virginia Macdonald, R-Arlington Heights, said she was particularly concerned about NOW's call

Playboy ordered not to retaliate

A federal judge said Monday he will order Playboy Enterprises to tell its employes they need not fear retaliation if they file discrimination charges against the firm. U. S. District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen told attorneys to write up the order and he will sign it Wednesday. McMillen made the announcement after two days of hearings in the case of Anthony Jackson, Playboy's former employment director who was fired July 29. Jackson filed suit through the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, charging he was fired because he helped the EEOC investigate Playboy's hiring and promotion practices. He is seeking reinstatement and back pay.

No cuts if referendum fails

School Board Pres. Judith Zanca said Monday no "retaliatory actions" are planned in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 if voters do not approve the Sept. 27 tax rate referendum. The board is asking for 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation education tax rate hike. Supt. Roger Bardwell said present educational programs will not be cut, and the district will find other ways of raising taxes without a referendum if it fails. The district is asking for the hike to raise its tax level to the $1.95 level required by the state to receive maximum state aid.

Post office meets village demands

The U. S. Postal Service has ended a six-month dispute with the Village of Mount Prospect by agreeing to install a sprinkler system throughout the new post office at Elmhurst Road and Central Avenue. The postal service agreed to meet the village's building code demands, which included a full fire suppression system instead of just a partial sprinkler system. A post office spokesman said the government wished to avoid delays on the building so that it can be finished before winter weather strikes.

Alexian bond sale delayed

Hospital officials expect a two-month delay in the sale of $23 million of municipal bonds for Alexian Brothers Medical Center, because the financial and bond feasibility studies will not be completed in time to start the sale Oct. 1 as planned. The bonds will be used to refinance a $14 million debt and complete scheduled expansion.

Funds raised for cancer victim

Residents of five Arlington Heights subdivisions have raised another $2,200 to help defray the medical expenses of Susan Lark, an 11-year-old victim of bone marrow cancer. The families raised the money by selling donated items in a flea market on Lilac Terrace, and children of another subdivision helped by holding a local carnival. Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lark, 1415 Rose Hill Dr., Arlington Heights, had no hospitalization insurance when her disease was diagnosed in July, requiring a leg amputation.

Group aids minorities

Elk Grove man named to SCLC

Clyde H. Brooks, Elk Grove Village, chairman of suburban chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) was elected to the National Board of SCLC at the organization's 18th Annual Convention in Anniston, Ala.

The theme of the meeting, "Toward a Nonviolent Economy," was discussed in terms of skyrocketing costs of food, fuel and medical care and the growing rate of inflation.

One of the civil rights organization's past officers was the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who served as national president of the SCLC in the 1960s.

The suburban chapter of SCLC in Des Plaines is actively working to improve job opportunities for minorities and increase housing opportunities for minorities working in the suburbs, said officials.

The industrial arm of the suburban chapter, the minority industrial relations council, is a cooperative association of nearly 40 suburban companies which have voluntarily joined together to further the goals of SCLC.

In addition to employment and housing, the council provides information on qualified minority vendors and helps them enter the suburban industrial market.

The suburban chapter is located at 694 Lee St., Des Plaines.

MSD county taxes may climb by 20%

Countywide taxes for the Metropolitan Sanitary District will increase 20 per cent, to 46.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation, if a proposed $354 million budget is approved by the Sanitary District board.

The budget, released late Monday in Chicago, includes nearly $153 million for construction of the MSD's deep tunnel and reservoir system.

Nearly $93 million for construction of the controversial O'Hare Treatment Plant near Des Plaines was budgeted this year and bidding for the project is expected in October, a sanitary district spokesman said.

Officials said the budget increase was caused by a jump in the percentage that the district must provide for bonds to obtain federal project grants. Last year, the district included funds which provided 20 per cent of anticipated federal grants. The proposed budget includes 40 per cent bonding money.

Playboy ordered not to retaliate

A federal judge said Monday he will order Playboy Enterprises to tell its employes they need not fear retaliation if they file discrimination charges against the firm. U. S. District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen told attorneys to write up the order and he will sign it Wednesday. McMillen made the announcement after two days of hearings in the case of Anthony Jackson, Playboy's former employment director who was fired July 29. Jackson filed suit through the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, charging he was fired because he helped the EEOC investigate Playboy's hiring and promotion practices. He is seeking reinstatement and back pay.

No cuts if referendum fails

School Board Pres. Judith Zanca said Monday no "retaliatory actions" are planned in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 if voters do not approve the Sept. 27 tax rate referendum. The board is asking for 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation education tax rate hike. Supt. Roger Bardwell said present educational programs will not be cut, and the district will find other ways of raising taxes without a referendum if it fails. The district is asking for the hike to raise its tax level to the $1.95 level required by the state to receive maximum state aid.

Post office meets village demands

The U. S. Postal Service has ended a six-month dispute with the Village of Mount Prospect by agreeing to install a sprinkler system throughout the new post office at Elmhurst Road and Central Avenue. The postal service agreed to meet the village's building code demands, which included a full fire suppression system instead of just a partial sprinkler system. A post office spokesman said the government wished to avoid delays on the building so that it can be finished before winter weather strikes.

Alexian bond sale delayed

Hospital officials expect a two-month delay in the sale of $23 million of municipal bonds for Alexian Brothers Medical Center, because the financial and bond feasibility studies will not be completed in time to start the sale Oct. 1 as planned. The bonds will be used to refinance a $14 million debt and complete scheduled expansion.

Funds raised for cancer victim

Residents of five Arlington Heights subdivisions have raised another $2,200 to help defray the medical expenses of Susan Lark, an 11-year-old victim of bone marrow cancer. The families raised the money by selling donated items in a flea market on Lilac Terrace, and children of another subdivision helped by holding a local carnival. Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lark, 1415 Rose Hill Dr., Arlington Heights, had no hospitalization insurance when her disease was diagnosed in July, requiring a leg amputation.

Group aids minorities

Elk Grove man named to SCLC

Clyde H. Brooks, Elk Grove Village, chairman of suburban chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) was elected to the National Board of SCLC at the organization's 18th Annual Convention in Anniston, Ala.

The theme of the meeting, "Toward a Nonviolent Economy," was discussed in terms of skyrocketing costs of food, fuel and medical care and the growing rate of inflation.

One of the civil rights organization's past officers was the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who served as national president of the SCLC in the 1960s.

The suburban chapter of SCLC in Des Plaines is actively working to improve job opportunities for minorities and increase housing opportunities for minorities working in the suburbs, said officials.

The industrial arm of the suburban chapter, the minority industrial relations council, is a cooperative association of nearly 40 suburban companies which have voluntarily joined together to further the goals of SCLC.

In addition to employment and housing, the council provides information on qualified minority vendors and helps them enter the suburban industrial market.

The suburban chapter is located at 694 Lee St., Des Plaines.

MSD county taxes may climb by 20%

Countywide taxes for the Metropolitan Sanitary District will increase 20 per cent, to 46.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation, if a proposed $354 million budget is approved by the Sanitary District board.

The budget, released late Monday in Chicago, includes nearly $153 million for construction of the MSD's deep tunnel and reservoir system.

Nearly $93 million for construction of the controversial O'Hare Treatment Plant near Des Plaines was budgeted this year and bidding for the project is expected in October, a sanitary district spokesman said.

Officials said the budget increase was caused by a jump in the percentage that the district must provide for bonds to obtain federal project grants. Last year, the district included funds which provided 20 per cent of anticipated federal grants. The proposed budget includes 40 per cent bonding money.

Embassy guerrillas head for Algiers

RIOT POLICE in Madrid assemble in front of entrance to Egyptian Embassy where Palestinian commandos, occupying the embassy, threatened to kill ambassador Mahmoud Abdel Ghaffar and two other diplomats. Late Monday night the guerrillas flew to Algiers.

MADRID (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas seized the Egyptian Embassy Monday and threatened to kill the ambassador and two aides unless Egypt withdrew from peace talks with Israel. After a 16-hour siege, the Arabs flew to Algiers where they promised to free their hostages.

The news agency Europa Press said there were 13 persons on the plane, including four Arab guerrillas, five hostages and four others who were not identified. It took off from Barajas International Airport at 3:51 a.m. (8:51 p.m. CDT) Monday.

The Palestinians agreed to leave the embassy after talks with Arab ambassadors who persuaded them to fly to Algiers, release their hostages and surrender to police.

Police stood well back as the commandos and their hostages left the embassy and piled into a bus that whisked them to the airport.

En route to the airport, the commandos threw themselves on the floor of the bus, covering their heads with what appeared to be nylon netting. The hostages sat up straight.

One of the commandos carried a case with a wire leading to what looked like a remote control switch, witnesses said. They said other commandos carried guns and one had a grenade.

The commandos seized the embassy Monday morning and took Ambassador Mahmoud Abdel Ghaffar and two of his aides hostage. The ambassadors of Algeria, Kuwait, Jordan and Iraq negotiated with the Palestinians through bullhorns and with notes slipped under the barricaded door of the embassy.

The commandos had threatened to kill their hostages unless the Egyptian delegation withdrew from peace talks with Israel in Geneva on an interim agreement in the Sinai.

Although the commandos themselves put their number all day at five, police later said there were only four.

The news agency Europa Press later said the four unidentified persons on the plane were crew members.

An estimated 300 riot police kept a crowd of several thousand back from the embassy building on Velasquez St.

The Arab ambassadors, including Ghaffar, signed a statement denouncing the interim Sinai agreement between Egypt and the "so-called state of Israel." The statement said the agreement was "directed against Palestinian people, its objectives and future aspirations."

The Geneva talks between Israel and Egypt were to prepare for a final signing the agreement engineered by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and initialed by the two countries Sept. 4.

In Cairo, earlier, President Anwar Sadat made a speech announcing his approval of sending a plane to Madrid to fly out the guerrillas.

In an emotional, two-hour speech before Egypt's political leadership, Sadat said the guerrillas demanded an Algerian plane to fly them to safety but that Algeria requested Egypt's approval before meeting the demand.

"Of course, I gave them my approval immediately," Sadat said.

The speech was addressed as much to Syria and the Palestinians as to his audience, the Arab Socialist Union.

"All those who have been criticizing Egypt and its policy think that they can frighten us but we cannot be deceived by outbidding and slogans," Sadat said.

"Yasser," said Sadat, referring to Palestinian Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat, "I know you are listening to me now. We shall try to bear again with the Palestinians and their hasty reaction. Our position in the Arab-Israeli conflict has not changed. we always think of their Arab interests as well as the interests of the Palestinian people," Sadat said.

In Beirut, the PLO denied it had anything to do with the attack and condemned what it called Egypt's "threatening tone."

GM sales up; others down

General Motors Corp. Monday reported its early September new car sales, including the higher-priced 1976 models, were the highest since 1971. All other automakers reported a drop from the previous year. Although the total cars sold by all U.S. automakers was down 7.5 per cent from a year ago, GM's .2 per cent increase pushed the auto industry to its fifth best Sept. 1-10 period in history.

Ford Motor Co. sales were down 21 per cent; Chrysler was off 2.3 per cent, and American Motors off 14.5 per cent.

3 Boston school buses stoned

Three buses, two containing both black and white children, were stoned Monday at the start of the second week of a stepped-up plan to integrate Boston's public schools. However, city-wide attendance reached a high for the new school term.

In teacher strikes across the nation, meanwhile, 2 million children remained affected, but there were signs of a break in the New York strike. The two sides in New York are reportedly only hours away from agreement.

In Chicago, bargainers headed back into negotiations amid threats by School Superintendent Joseph Hannon to seek a back-to-work order, and talk of setting up "alternative" schools to keep the city's 530,000 idle public school children off the streets.

FTC hits Safeway Store advertising

The Federal Trade Commission Monday accused Safeway Stores Inc., the nation's largest supermarket chain, of cheating consumers by advertising food at sale prices but selling it at regular prices. The loss to shoppers, one FTC lawyer said, has been "substantial" over the years, although no complete dollar estimate has been made. The complaint against Safeway completed a sweep by the agency against the country's "big three" food store chains. A&P, the No. 2 chain, and Kroger, No. 3, have been hit with similar litigation.

Natural gas shortage worries experts

Even if the coming winter is mild, emergency actions can only make a small dent in the anticipated shortages of natural gas, top energy officials said Monday. Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb, Federal Power Commission Chairman John N. Nassikas and aides testified at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing on natural gas shortages.

Zarb said with an average winter, the natural gas "shortage" — the amount of gas that customers could use compared with the amount available — would be 1.3 trillion cubic feet. That is nearly one-fourth more severe than the shortage of last winter, he said, and "we could have a more serious condition with a more serious winter."

Ford terminates clemency board

President Ford signed an executive order Monday terminating the Presidential Clemency Board, created a year ago to help Vietnam War resisters clear their records and return to normal lives. Ford's executive order assigned the Justice Department to clean up unfinished business of the board, which processed 15,500 applications for the President's limited clemency offer. Atty. Gen Edward Levi will have until March 31 to submit final recommendations to the President on applications received.

Papua, New Guinea proclaim independence

Papua and New Guinea proclaimed formal independence at the stroke of midnight Monday with a fireworks display marking the end of a drive by Australia to thrust this primitive land into the world community. The new nation has seen nearly a century of colonial rule by Germany, Britain, Japan and Australia.

Papua and New Guinea are the most primitive areas remaining on earth, marked by violence among bow and arrow wielding tribes that speak more than 700 different languages.

2 bombs explode in London

Two bombs planted in hollowed out paperback books and mailed from Dublin exploded in London's fashionable Kensington and Mayfair districts Monday injuring the dowager Countess of Onslow and a woman secretary. Pamela, Countess of Onslow, mother of the present Earl of Onslow, suffered minor burns on her arms when she opened a package containing a hollowed out Walt Disney Pinocchio book addressed to her home in Kensington. The second bomb exploded in the Berkeley Square offices of the Canadian Alcan aluminum company. A secretary received minor cuts and burns.

Highest gain since '72 economic boom

Industrial production jumps 1.3%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrial production jumped 1.3 per cent in August for the highest percentage gain since the economic boom preceding the 1972 presidential election, the Federal Reserve Board reported Monday.

The measurement of the physical production of the nation's factories, mines and utilities stood at its highest level since January, the Fed said.

The percentage gain was the highest since a 1.4-per cent surge in October, 1972, when the Federal Reserve was expanding the money supply to produce a period of prosperity that ended in mid-1973.

The Fed said every measurement of output gained from July to August. The primary boost, however, came from production of home furnishings such as appliances, furniture and carpets.

There were considerable increases also in production of raw steel, textiles, paper and chemicals. The only declines were for industrial fuel and power, which reflected strikes in the coal industry.

The 1.3-per-cent rise in August was nearly triple the increases of 0.5 per cent in both June and July. Industrial production declined for eight straight months before the June increase.

Earlier in the day, the Commerce Department reported business and industry continued the longest period of inventory cuts in 16 years by trimming backroom stocks another $569 million in July.

Declining inventories are a good sign for the nation's 7.8 million unemployed workers. It means that manufacturers will begin rehiring some workers to produce goods to supply an improving consumer demand.

It was the second consecutive month of increased retail inventories, a signal that consumers are buying again.

In other economic news:

• Bank of America of San Francisco, the nation's largest commercial bank, and several other large banks raised their minimum interest rate for corporate loans to 8 per cent. First National City Bank of New York, the second largest, began the trend toward a higher prime rate Friday.

Chicago banks raising their rate to 8 per cent Monday included: First National Bank of Chicago, Northern Trust of Chicago and Continental Illinois of Chicago.

• Treasury Secretary William E. Simon warned that unless Congress and President Ford can agree on a national energy policy, the OPEC nations will hamper the nation's economic recovery.

'Bushel-for-barrel' talks end

MOSCOW (UPI) — American and Soviet negotiators Monday night concluded preliminary talks on a long-term grain agreement, which could involve "bushel-for-barrel" trading of surplus American crops for Soviet oil.

Charles Robinson, U.S. Under-Secretary of State for Economic Affairs who headed the American delegation, will leave for Washington Tuesday to report to President Ford, a U.S. spokesman said.

"The negotiations still are in a preliminary stage," the spokesman said. He added that the talks could be characterized as "satisfactory thus far."

Antther U.S. official said no further meeting would be held unless the Soviets ask for one.

The chief negotiator for the Soviet side was Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev.

President Ford sent Robinson to Moscow to seek an arrangement under which the Soviet Union would buy specified amounts of grain from the United States on an annual basis.

Ford said Friday the deal could cover up to five years and might involve an exchange of surplus American grain for Soviet oil.

The talks were prompted by fears that sudden large purchases of American grain could boost food prices in the United States. Some Western experts believe a regularized buying pattern by the Soviets would stabilize the international grain market and help keep prices down.

Robinson's visit was the result of a debate over Soviet purchases this year of 10 million tons of U.S. grain to supplement Russia's drought-hit harvest.

Earlier in the day in Washington, the head of the American Farm Bureau Federation pleaded unsuccessfully with President Ford to end a one-month ban on U.S. grain sales to Russia and warned that farmers oppose any long-term sales agreement negotiated between the two governments.

Federation President William J. Kuhfuss said Ford refused to lift the 30-day moratorium that the administration imposed on grain sales to Russia while representatives of both governments met in Moscow to negotiate a long-term purchasing agreement.

But, he said, the President reaffirmed his commitment to a market economy and assured him that more American grain will be sold to the Soviet Union this year.

SWAT kills armed, wounded hijacker

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — An armed and wounded hijacker trying to escape from a Continental Airlines 727 jet with a gun held at the head of a hostage was picked off and shot to death Monday by a police sharpshooter.

The single shot shortly after midnight ended a four-hour rampage by Fred Salomon, 24, San Jose, in which he stabbed a woman he tried to rape in her home, and wounded one of four hostages he took in his hijack attempt, police said.

Salomon was wounded when he went to the cockpit window of the plane and a member of the police Special Weapons and Tactical Team known as SWAT opened fire.

Police said the rampage began when Salomon entered the home of Eileen Rosas, 28, mother of three, and stabbed her in the heart. He then kidnaped four hostages in a cross-city spree, stole three vehicles, threatened several other persons en route to his hijacking attempt and wounded a doctor captive who tried to escape.

The SWAT sharpshooter picked off Salomon as he stood on the ladder with a .38 caliber revolver at the head of airline mechanic Alden Lindekugle, 40.

"He had agreed to come out of the plane himself without his weapon and with his hands up," said police Lt. Gary Leonard. But Salomon used the mechanic as a shield, Leonard said.

"One of our officers, about 50 feet away, shouted three times, 'Drop your weapon,' " Leonard said. He began to point the gun at the officer when the SWAT sharpshooter cut him down.

Embassy guerrillas head for Algiers

RIOT POLICE in Madrid assemble in front of entrance to Egyptian Embassy where Palestinian commandos, occupying the embassy, threatened to kill ambassador Mahmoud Abdel Ghaffar and two other diplomats. Late Monday night the guerrillas flew to Algiers.

MADRID (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas seized the Egyptian Embassy Monday and threatened to kill the ambassador and two aides unless Egypt withdrew from peace talks with Israel. After a 16-hour siege, the Arabs flew to Algiers where they promised to free their hostages.

The news agency Europa Press said there were 13 persons on the plane, including four Arab guerrillas, five hostages and four others who were not identified. It took off from Barajas International Airport at 3:51 a.m. (8:51 p.m. CDT) Monday.

The Palestinians agreed to leave the embassy after talks with Arab ambassadors who persuaded them to fly to Algiers, release their hostages and surrender to police.

Police stood well back as the commandos and their hostages left the embassy and piled into a bus that whisked them to the airport.

En route to the airport, the commandos threw themselves on the floor of the bus, covering their heads with what appeared to be nylon netting. The hostages sat up straight.

One of the commandos carried a case with a wire leading to what looked like a remote control switch, witnesses said. They said other commandos carried guns and one had a grenade.

The commandos seized the embassy Monday morning and took Ambassador Mahmoud Abdel Ghaffar and two of his aides hostage. The ambassadors of Algeria, Kuwait, Jordan and Iraq negotiated with the Palestinians through bullhorns and with notes slipped under the barricaded door of the embassy.

The commandos had threatened to kill their hostages unless the Egyptian delegation withdrew from peace talks with Israel in Geneva on an interim agreement in the Sinai.

Although the commandos themselves put their number all day at five, police later said there were only four.

The news agency Europa Press later said the four unidentified persons on the plane were crew members.

An estimated 300 riot police kept a crowd of several thousand back from the embassy building on Velasquez St.

The Arab ambassadors, including Ghaffar, signed a statement denouncing the interim Sinai agreement between Egypt and the "so-called state of Israel." The statement said the agreement was "directed against Palestinian people, its objectives and future aspirations."

The Geneva talks between Israel and Egypt were to prepare for a final signing the agreement engineered by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and initialed by the two countries Sept. 4.

In Cairo, earlier, President Anwar Sadat made a speech announcing his approval of sending a plane to Madrid to fly out the guerrillas.

In an emotional, two-hour speech before Egypt's political leadership, Sadat said the guerrillas demanded an Algerian plane to fly them to safety but that Algeria requested Egypt's approval before meeting the demand.

"Of course, I gave them my approval immediately," Sadat said.

The speech was addressed as much to Syria and the Palestinians as to his audience, the Arab Socialist Union.

"All those who have been criticizing Egypt and its policy think that they can frighten us but we cannot be deceived by outbidding and slogans," Sadat said.

"Yasser," said Sadat, referring to Palestinian Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat, "I know you are listening to me now. We shall try to bear again with the Palestinians and their hasty reaction. Our position in the Arab-Israeli conflict has not changed. we always think of their Arab interests as well as the interests of the Palestinian people," Sadat said.

In Beirut, the PLO denied it had anything to do with the attack and condemned what it called Egypt's "threatening tone."

GM sales up; others down

General Motors Corp. Monday reported its early September new car sales, including the higher-priced 1976 models, were the highest since 1971. All other automakers reported a drop from the previous year. Although the total cars sold by all U.S. automakers was down 7.5 per cent from a year ago, GM's .2 per cent increase pushed the auto industry to its fifth best Sept. 1-10 period in history.

Ford Motor Co. sales were down 21 per cent; Chrysler was off 2.3 per cent, and American Motors off 14.5 per cent.

3 Boston school buses stoned

Three buses, two containing both black and white children, were stoned Monday at the start of the second week of a stepped-up plan to integrate Boston's public schools. However, city-wide attendance reached a high for the new school term.

In teacher strikes across the nation, meanwhile, 2 million children remained affected, but there were signs of a break in the New York strike. The two sides in New York are reportedly only hours away from agreement.

In Chicago, bargainers headed back into negotiations amid threats by School Superintendent Joseph Hannon to seek a back-to-work order, and talk of setting up "alternative" schools to keep the city's 530,000 idle public school children off the streets.

FTC hits Safeway Store advertising

The Federal Trade Commission Monday accused Safeway Stores Inc., the nation's largest supermarket chain, of cheating consumers by advertising food at sale prices but selling it at regular prices. The loss to shoppers, one FTC lawyer said, has been "substantial" over the years, although no complete dollar estimate has been made. The complaint against Safeway completed a sweep by the agency against the country's "big three" food store chains. A&P, the No. 2 chain, and Kroger, No. 3, have been hit with similar litigation.

Natural gas shortage worries experts

Even if the coming winter is mild, emergency actions can only make a small dent in the anticipated shortages of natural gas, top energy officials said Monday. Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb, Federal Power Commission Chairman John N. Nassikas and aides testified at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing on natural gas shortages.

Zarb said with an average winter, the natural gas "shortage" — the amount of gas that customers could use compared with the amount available — would be 1.3 trillion cubic feet. That is nearly one-fourth more severe than the shortage of last winter, he said, and "we could have a more serious condition with a more serious winter."

Ford terminates clemency board

President Ford signed an executive order Monday terminating the Presidential Clemency Board, created a year ago to help Vietnam War resisters clear their records and return to normal lives. Ford's executive order assigned the Justice Department to clean up unfinished business of the board, which processed 15,500 applications for the President's limited clemency offer. Atty. Gen Edward Levi will have until March 31 to submit final recommendations to the President on applications received.

Papua, New Guinea proclaim independence

Papua and New Guinea proclaimed formal independence at the stroke of midnight Monday with a fireworks display marking the end of a drive by Australia to thrust this primitive land into the world community. The new nation has seen nearly a century of colonial rule by Germany, Britain, Japan and Australia.

Papua and New Guinea are the most primitive areas remaining on earth, marked by violence among bow and arrow wielding tribes that speak more than 700 different languages.

2 bombs explode in London

Two bombs planted in hollowed out paperback books and mailed from Dublin exploded in London's fashionable Kensington and Mayfair districts Monday injuring the dowager Countess of Onslow and a woman secretary. Pamela, Countess of Onslow, mother of the present Earl of Onslow, suffered minor burns on her arms when she opened a package containing a hollowed out Walt Disney Pinocchio book addressed to her home in Kensington. The second bomb exploded in the Berkeley Square offices of the Canadian Alcan aluminum company. A secretary received minor cuts and burns.

Highest gain since '72 economic boom

Industrial production jumps 1.3%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrial production jumped 1.3 per cent in August for the highest percentage gain since the economic boom preceding the 1972 presidential election, the Federal Reserve Board reported Monday.

The measurement of the physical production of the nation's factories, mines and utilities stood at its highest level since January, the Fed said.

The percentage gain was the highest since a 1.4-per cent surge in October, 1972, when the Federal Reserve was expanding the money supply to produce a period of prosperity that ended in mid-1973.

The Fed said every measurement of output gained from July to August. The primary boost, however, came from production of home furnishings such as appliances, furniture and carpets.

There were considerable increases also in production of raw steel, textiles, paper and chemicals. The only declines were for industrial fuel and power, which reflected strikes in the coal industry.

The 1.3-per-cent rise in August was nearly triple the increases of 0.5 per cent in both June and July. Industrial production declined for eight straight months before the June increase.

Earlier in the day, the Commerce Department reported business and industry continued the longest period of inventory cuts in 16 years by trimming backroom stocks another $569 million in July.

Declining inventories are a good sign for the nation's 7.8 million unemployed workers. It means that manufacturers will begin rehiring some workers to produce goods to supply an improving consumer demand.

It was the second consecutive month of increased retail inventories, a signal that consumers are buying again.

In other economic news:

• Bank of America of San Francisco, the nation's largest commercial bank, and several other large banks raised their minimum interest rate for corporate loans to 8 per cent. First National City Bank of New York, the second largest, began the trend toward a higher prime rate Friday.

Chicago banks raising their rate to 8 per cent Monday included: First National Bank of Chicago, Northern Trust of Chicago and Continental Illinois of Chicago.

• Treasury Secretary William E. Simon warned that unless Congress and President Ford can agree on a national energy policy, the OPEC nations will hamper the nation's economic recovery.

'Bushel-for-barrel' talks end

MOSCOW (UPI) — American and Soviet negotiators Monday night concluded preliminary talks on a long-term grain agreement, which could involve "bushel-for-barrel" trading of surplus American crops for Soviet oil.

Charles Robinson, U.S. Under-Secretary of State for Economic Affairs who headed the American delegation, will leave for Washington Tuesday to report to President Ford, a U.S. spokesman said.

"The negotiations still are in a preliminary stage," the spokesman said. He added that the talks could be characterized as "satisfactory thus far."

Antther U.S. official said no further meeting would be held unless the Soviets ask for one.

The chief negotiator for the Soviet side was Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev.

President Ford sent Robinson to Moscow to seek an arrangement under which the Soviet Union would buy specified amounts of grain from the United States on an annual basis.

Ford said Friday the deal could cover up to five years and might involve an exchange of surplus American grain for Soviet oil.

The talks were prompted by fears that sudden large purchases of American grain could boost food prices in the United States. Some Western experts believe a regularized buying pattern by the Soviets would stabilize the international grain market and help keep prices down.

Robinson's visit was the result of a debate over Soviet purchases this year of 10 million tons of U.S. grain to supplement Russia's drought-hit harvest.

Earlier in the day in Washington, the head of the American Farm Bureau Federation pleaded unsuccessfully with President Ford to end a one-month ban on U.S. grain sales to Russia and warned that farmers oppose any long-term sales agreement negotiated between the two governments.

Federation President William J. Kuhfuss said Ford refused to lift the 30-day moratorium that the administration imposed on grain sales to Russia while representatives of both governments met in Moscow to negotiate a long-term purchasing agreement.

But, he said, the President reaffirmed his commitment to a market economy and assured him that more American grain will be sold to the Soviet Union this year.

SWAT kills armed, wounded hijacker

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — An armed and wounded hijacker trying to escape from a Continental Airlines 727 jet with a gun held at the head of a hostage was picked off and shot to death Monday by a police sharpshooter.

The single shot shortly after midnight ended a four-hour rampage by Fred Salomon, 24, San Jose, in which he stabbed a woman he tried to rape in her home, and wounded one of four hostages he took in his hijack attempt, police said.

Salomon was wounded when he went to the cockpit window of the plane and a member of the police Special Weapons and Tactical Team known as SWAT opened fire.

Police said the rampage began when Salomon entered the home of Eileen Rosas, 28, mother of three, and stabbed her in the heart. He then kidnaped four hostages in a cross-city spree, stole three vehicles, threatened several other persons en route to his hijacking attempt and wounded a doctor captive who tried to escape.

The SWAT sharpshooter picked off Salomon as he stood on the ladder with a .38 caliber revolver at the head of airline mechanic Alden Lindekugle, 40.

"He had agreed to come out of the plane himself without his weapon and with his hands up," said police Lt. Gary Leonard. But Salomon used the mechanic as a shield, Leonard said.

"One of our officers, about 50 feet away, shouted three times, 'Drop your weapon,' " Leonard said. He began to point the gun at the officer when the SWAT sharpshooter cut him down.

Want to get away? Here're a few choice vacation spots

Travel lore

by Clare Wright
TRAVEL EDITOR

I'll wager that if a survey were taken of all the travel editors and travel writers in the country, you would find that when their own vacation time rolls around, most of them prefer to stay in their own backyards.

While I was relaxing on my recent "holiday" my mail really stacked up — which certainly proves that no matter what the economy does, the travel business continues to flourish in a big way.

In delving through the piles of travel information that had accumulated in three weeks away from the office I picked out a few "odds and ends" ideas for persons hoping to vacation during the fall and winter months.

• NEW BRIDGE AND SHOPPING CRUISES — Carnival Cruise Lines will offer two special shopping cruises Dec. 6 and Dec. 13, aboard the SS Mardi Gras, which will said to San Juan, St. Thomas and St. Maarten.

St. Maarten is a marvelous spot for you to take care of your whole Christmas shopping list. Gift selections all have a true international flavor — not only in St. Maarten but in the other islands as well.

You will find many charming gifts with a Spanish motif in San Juan. St. Maarten has gifts to choose from in both the Dutch and French traditions.

St. Thomas, of course, is one of the world's best free ports.

For bridge players the six fall cruises to Nassau, San Juan and St. Thomas, Oct. 18-Nov. 22, the SS Mardi Gras will feature a program of special bridge events.

• TAG THAT BAG — As of now, the nation's air carriers will not accept passenger baggage for checking unless the passenger's name is firmly affixed on the outside.

Delta Air Lines is providing complimentary baggage identification labels at its ticket offices and airport facilities for passengers who need them.

• CRUISE CHICAGO WATERWAYS — The Chicago Travel Club is offering a series of all-day cruises during September and October. It is a great opportunity to study the ecological and economic, and historical development of Chicago waterways.

The Chicago Travel Club is in Room 928, 30 W. Washington St., Chicago 60602.

• NO TV AND PROUD OF IT! — If you are looking for a place where you can really get away from everyday life, Jackson Lake Lodge in Grand Teton National Park is tailor-made for you.

Vernon Johnson, general manager of the Grand Teton Lodge Co., says that no one has ever complained about the lack of the "boob tube" in this isolated area which is very much like it was 100 years ago.

In the evenings, guests gather in the lobby of Jackson Lake Lodge and talk over their fun of the day. Most guests go to bed early and are up at sunrise. The early mornings are usually the best part of the day at places like Jackson Lake Lodge — especially for breakfast rides, hikes and nature walks.

• BICENTENNIAL EVENTS IN DEARBORN, MICH. — If you want your family to experience America's past during the Bicentennial era, you don't have to travel too far. History is as close as Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum.

The Village and Museum already have announced a full calendar of events designed to recreate the days when our nation was new.

A diversified slate of special events, exhibits, theater presentations and lectures are scheduled now through the end of 1976.

For your copy of the Bicentennial Events Calendar, write Dept. TC, Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, Mich. 48121.

• AUTUMN BARGAINS TO PARIS — This week the always popular one-week group inclusive tour fare will be offered with Air France's Flexiplan programs.

Using this popular economy holiday, it is possible for you to enjoy a one-week trip to Paris, including $90 of land arrangements for $609 from Chicago. There is a $15 one-way surcharge for weekend travel.

You have your choice of three Paris land programs. One features a four-day car rental, four-day metro pass and three hotel nights.

The second plan includes a seven-day Eurailpass and one hotel night. The third offers a seven-day car rental and two hotel nights.

• SIX FLAGS ON WEEKENDS — Six Flags Over Mid-America, the popular family amusement park near St. Louis will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays through Sept. 28, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays in October until Oct. 26, when the park closes for the season.

• SENIOR CITIZENS WELCOME IN POCONOS — For senior citizens wishing to join the Poconos varied "social season," resorts throughout the Poconos offer special discounts.

For more information about special package rates for senior citizens, write to the Pocono Mountains, Vacation Bureau, Box D, 1004 Main St., Stroudsburg, Pa. 18360.

Your travel agent also can furnish free brochures and information on these and many other fall and winter "getaways."

Suzuki music method demonstrations set

Arlington Heights Dist. 25

Demonstrations of the Suzuki method of music instruction will be given by Donna Cook at Thomas Junior High School, Wednesday at 8 p.m., and at Miner Junior High School, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Music for Youth will present the demonstrations of the Suzuki method where children learn to play violin and cello by imitation, repetition and encouragement.

Group lessons are scheduled for children from preschool through junior high during the school year in all Arlington Heights Dist. 25 schools. Music for Youth was formed in 1971 after Dist. 25 dropped its districtwide string music program.

Parents and children interested in the music program are asked to attend either Wednesday or Thursday.

Students will see their creative ideas come to life Wednesday when "The Playmakers" visit Ridge School, 800 N. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights.

The children provide characters, plot and dialogue for the performance and see their ideas acted out in music, song, dance and pantomime. The program is sponsored by the PTA cultural arts committee.

State Sen. Bradley M. Glass, R-Northfield, will be the guest speaker at the Arlington Heights Council of PTAs meeting Wednesday.

Due to an error in information received from the PTA, a story in Saturday's Herald had listed the meeting for Thursday.

Glass will discuss the "bottle bill," a bill he authored and introduced for legislative action to ban the use of nonreturnable beverage bottles.

The 1:30 p.m. meeting will be Wednesday at Greenbrier School, 2330 N. Verde Ave., Arlington Heights.

Queen of the Rosary

Queen of the Rosary School will hold a PTS meeting today at 8 p.m. at the school, 690 E. Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village. The faculty will be introduced and parents will have the opportunity to visit the classrooms and meet their children's teachers.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Marshall School PTC will sponsor a "cupcake-cookie walk" Friday at 7 p.m. at the school, 711 Chelmsford Ln., Elk Grove Village.

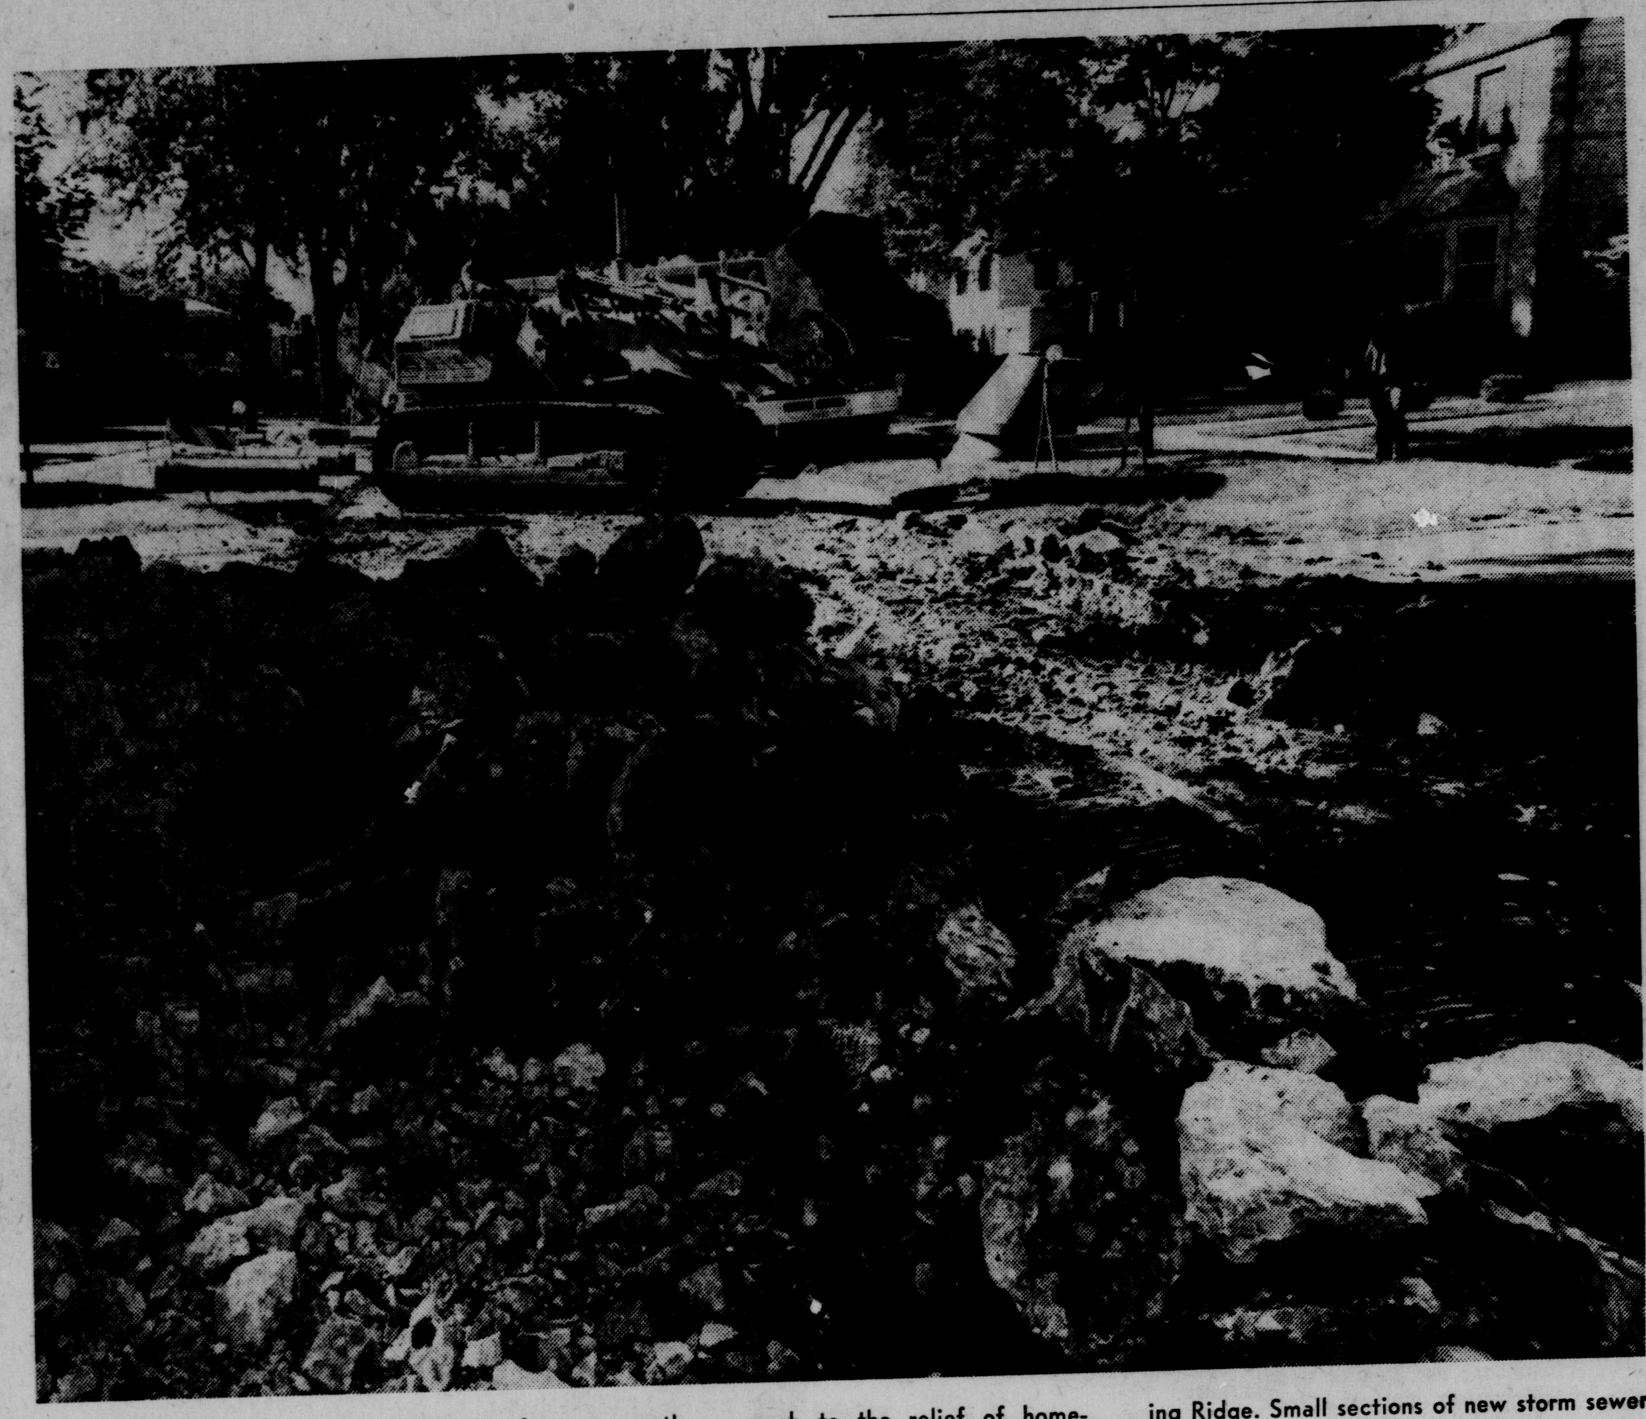
In general . . .

College scholarships from $500 to $5,000 will be awarded in the Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living contest.

Enrollment deadline is Oct. 31 for students interested in participating in the school administered examination Dec. 2. Individual school winners will be acknowledged with special awards and their examinations are entered in state competition.

Each state winner will receive a $1,500 college scholarship while state second-place winner receives a $500 grant. State winners also earn their school a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp.

State winner will then compete for the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow title and a $5,000 scholarship.



THE RUBBLE ON Ridge Avenue south of Campbell Street should be cleaned up within a month — much to the relief of homeowners. The village is widening and resurfacing Ridge. Small sections of new storm sewer also are being installed.

Children's programs signup opens

Registration is under way for children's programs at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton Ave.

Programs offered this fall and winter include storytimes and movies for preschool children. A storytime for 3-year-olds will be at 10 a.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays, beginning the week of Oct. 13. A storytime for 4-and 5-year-olds will be at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Thursdays, beginning Oct. 2. Preschool movies will be offered at 10 a.m. on the second Friday of each month Oct. 10 through May 14.

A storyteller program for children in grades 1-3 will be offered at 4 p.m. the second Thursday of each month October through March. Registration also is open for a "Book Sampler" reading club.

Programs for fourth and fifth graders include the "Librey Lion" newspaper and the old fashioned "Book Bee" reading club. Creative dramatics will be offered at 4 p.m. Wednesdays Oct. 22 through Nov. 19.

THE CHILDREN'S department also will offer a series of special programs at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturdays.

Junior high programs include the Puppet-Tree Players, the Junior High "News" paper, "Goodie Two Shoes" reviews and "Great Reading for Teens," a book discussion group. A creative dramatics program will be offered at 4 p.m. Mondays Nov. 3 through Dec. 1 and a photography workshop at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays Jan. 27 through March 2.

A detailed listing of the fall, winter and spring programs is in the program primer available in the children's department of the library.

The library also has set up a Bicentennial Cabin information center. The cut-away section of a log cabin will be used as a center for Bicentennial resource materials.

School board, teachers agree on 6% wage hike

Teachers and board members in Prospect Heights Dist. 23 have settled on a new base salary of $8,950 for beginning teachers, a 6 per cent increase over the current $8,400 base pay, said Kenneth Bates, chief union spokesman.

Bates said both sides also settled on a salary of $9,502 for teachers with a master's degree and no experience.

"We came a little closer on the merit-multiplier package. We're sitting about 6 per cent apart," Bates said, referring to the amount of money each side is proposing to raise each salary step and provide merit raises.

Bates said the teachers are now asking $125,000 for multiplier and merit increases, or 12.5 per cent more than was spent on these items in 1974-75. Bates said the board is offering $45,000 for merit and multiplier increases, or 4.5 per cent more than the 1974-75 figure.

"WE DON'T SEE any problems where we can't get together," Bates said. "If we stay at the same rate, we could settle in two or three more sessions," he added.

"Talks are going along pretty well," said Alan Krinsky, chief negotiator for the Dist. 23 school board. Krinsky declined to elaborate on items settled thus far. He said he did not wish to jeopardize the talks.

"The basic item that is left is money. I see a settlement coming but I can't say exactly when," Krinsky said.

This is the second year of a two-year Dist. 23 contract, negotiated last year, which stated salaries could be reopened.

Some of the items tentatively settled thus far include district reimbursement for professional dues, extra duty and summer school pay increases, sick leave accumulation and professional travel allocation.

Krinsky said both sides had agreed to meet every Thursday until a settlement is reached.

3 youths arrested in roller skate theft

Three 12-year-old Arlington Heights youths were arrested Sunday for taking six pairs of roller skates in a burglary at Knight's Palace, 1307 E. Palatine Rd., Arlington Heights, police said.

The three were arrested after a report of three boys leaving about 7 p.m. through the rear door of the roller rink, which is not in business, police said.

Police said items were thrown throughout the building and flour had been dumped on the floor.

The juveniles were released to the custody of their parents, pending action by the police department's juvenile division.

Playcenter signup at parks this week

Special registration for the Arlington Heights Park District playcenter classes will be held at the various parks this week.

Hasbrook Park registration is set for 10 a.m. today, followed by Frontier and Camelot parks registration at 1 p.m.

The registration fee of $30 for two days classes per week and $45 for three days' classes per week will be taken at the location where a child wishes to participate.

Children must be at least 4 years old before Dec. 1, 1975 to be eligible. Birth certificates are required at registration.

Prospect golf team moves out to red-hot start

by KEITH REINHARD
Golf Editor

Hersey dropped Fremd from the undefeated ranks while Harper launched its campaign with an impressive triumph and two other local squads struggled at Quincy's invitational gathering to close out the second week of area golf action.

The latest results had the Huskies edging the Vikings 162-164 as Harper was notching a 293 to outdistance Kankakee (322) and Oakton (336), and Conant was bettering Maine West 162-176. Saturday Forest View placed 19th and Rolling Meadows 22nd in the 28-team outing at Quincy.

Still, the big news along the local links circuit thus far, has been Prospect's sizzling start. The Knights, along with Buffalo Grove and Palatine, were the only three remaining undefeated Mid-Suburban League outfits after the first week of conference action.

Coach George Bork's Prospect club forged a red-hot 151 while turning back Schaumburg and Rolling Meadows in their opener and came back two days later with a 149 against Elk Grove. Then, to prove it was no fluke, the Knights forged another 149 while trimming Maine West.

The highest score posted by any of Prospect's five starters in three meets was a 43. Paul Moats has led the early surge out of the starting gate with a 37 and two 36s.

Also owning 3-0 loop marks after a week of action were the Pirates and Bison paced by Nick Zambole and Rich Peterson respectively. The Vikes were aiming for a share of that lead when they ran into the hosting Huskies Friday where Ed Stubbs and Mark Miesfeldt both carded 39s to pace a two-stroke triumph.

Fremd had a 39 from Mark Evans. Earlier in the week the Vikings had an even better performance forthcoming from a freshman on their frosh-soph team, Don Sullivan firing a 37 at Palatine Hills to pace a double victory over Elk Grove and Forest View.

Harper's inaugural was highlighted by 72s from veterans Kevin Eakins and Tom McEnerney in an easy romp at Rob Roy. The rest of the balanced effort for coach Roger Bechtold consisted of a 74 from Dave Nelson and 75s from Dave Sidlin and Mike Fitton.

Conant evened up for the overall season as the Warriors absorbed their third straight setback at the hands of an MSL team. Joe Kuzyk sparked the Cougars with a 36.

Saturday Falcon Henry Damiano shot a respectable 79 but there was little else to cheer about at the Quincy Invite. Belleville Althoff came away with top prize at 386, Rockford Guilford placed second (390) and Pekin third (393) while Forest View at 428 and Meadows at 440 were well off the pace.

Rounding out Falcon scoring were Jim Moran and Mike Rich at 84 each, Mike Serino at 90 and Tom Martindale at 91. The Mustangs were led by Ken Miller at 83 while Kevin Pickering chipped in an 86, Mike Mills and Rich Vojtsek 89s and Scott Sander a 93.

Irish redeem 'selves in 2nd half

FOXBORO, Mass. — Freshman Jim Browner ripped 10 yards up the middle in the third period after his older brother Ross had recovered a fumble Monday night to lead Notre Dame to a 17-3 victory over Boston College in a nationally televised football game.

The triumph was Notre Dame's first under new coach Dan Devine and its 12th straight opening-game victory.

Sophomore Al Hunter, who missed last season along with Ross Browner because of a disciplinary suspension, sealed the game with a touchdown 50 seconds into the final period on a 24-yard pitchout around the right side. The two teams were tied 3-3 at halftime on field goals of 30 yards by Notre Dame's Dave Reeve and 45 yards by Boston College's Fred Steinfort.

The Eagles defense, which had held Notre Dame to 133 yards in the opening half, loosened after Browner fell on a Keith Barnett fumble of quarterback Mike Kruczek's errant pitchout.

Notre Dame, taking over on its own 40 yard line, found the end zone in eight plays. Quarterback Rick Slager, who had only 18 minutes of playing time going into the game, completed three passes in the drive for 27 yards. Jim Browner, who gained 95 yards in 24 carries, lost one yard on a first and goal from the nine yard line, then burst straight ahead on the next play for the winning score.

Boston College got one first down the next time it had the ball but, with less than a minute to go in the first period, free safety Randy Harrison intercepted a deflected Kruczek pass at the Eagle 49 and returned it seven yards. Hunter moved four yards to the BC 38. Slager found tight end Ken MacAffee with a 12-yard pass to the BC 26 and Jim Browner gained two more yards before Hunter took off on his scoring run.

Slager faked a handoff into the line, then pitched out to the speedy Hunter who cut to the right sideline, back towards the middle, then into the right corner of the end zone.

Boston College still had more than 14 minutes to catch up but the staunch Notre Dame defense, led by Ross Browner and All America Steve Neihaus, would not allow the Eagles past the Notre Dame 49.

Cubs, Pirates split; White Sox fall

The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered out 7 doubles and Richie Zisk belted a two-run homer to rout the Chicago Cubs 9-1 behind Jim Rooker's two-hit pitching Monday and split a doubleheader after the Cubs won the opener 6-5 on a two-run ninth at Wrigley Field.

Doubles by Jerry Morales and Jose Cardenal drove in a run apiece in the ninth to hand Dave Giusti the first game defeat and give Darold Knowles his sixth victory in relief.

Rooker pitched the distance in the nightcap to win his 13th game against nine losses and retired the last 16 Cubs in a row.

Zisk's 20th homer highlighted a three-run fourth inning off rookie Willie Prall, second game loser, Dave Parker had three doubles, driving in two runs with one of them in the fifth when Duffy Dyer also had a two-run single off Buddy Schultz.

In the opener, Bill Bonham entered the ninth with a 4-2 lead, built on a two-run triple by George Mitterwald and a pair of run-scoring singles by Dave Rosello.

Bob Robertson's two-run pinch single off Paul Reuschel tied the score in the ninth and Al Oliver's single off Knowles forged a 5-4 lead moments later. But Knowles emerged with the victory when Joe Wallis hit a two-out single to trigger the rally climaxed by Morales and Cardenal with their back-to-back doubles over the head of Oliver in deep center.

KANSAS CITY — John Mayberry cracked a two-out, run-scoring single in the ninth, propelling the Kansas City Royals to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox behind the six-hit pitching of Paul Splittorff.

Splittorff, 9-8, walked three and struck out four while lowering his ERA to 2.75. He played his prep ball in Arlington Heights.

Frank White led off the ninth by drawing a walk from loser Claude Osteen, 7-15. Jim Wohlford sacrificed White to second before Rich Gossage replaced Osteen. Gossage struck out Amos Otis for the second out and intentionally walked George Brett before Mayberry cracked his first offering for the game-winning hit to right-center.

The Royals tied the score at 2-2 in the fifth when White walked, took second on a ground-out and scored on Brett's two-out single. Brett led off the fourth with a double, moved to third on a ground out and scored on a sacrifice fly by Al Cowens.

Bob Coluccio doubled for the White Sox in the third, advanced on a ground out and scored on Brian Downing's sacrifice fly. Nyls Nyman led off the fifth with a single, moved around on a wild pitch and a groundout and scored on a single by Jerry Hairston.

Sequel to 'Guns' scheduled

With hunters and sportsmen in general still vociferously debating the controversial CBS documentary "The Guns of Autumn,' 'the network has announced a sequel to the program "Echoes of The Guns of Autumn" which will discuss questions raised by the original show, Sunday, Sept. 28.

"The Guns of Autumn" brought a mixed chorus of reaction from viewers who watched the impressionable one-hour telecast, Sept. 5 depicting the killing of animals for sport.

Most hunters were boisterous in their attack of the show which they judged to be "an irresponsible, one-sided collection of anti-hunting propaganda."

The CBS national switchboard in New York lit up like a Christmas tree the night of the program as 1,100 calls — 85 per cent opposing the show — burned the telephone cables.

Locally, Chicago's WBBM-TV station was bombarded with 206 calls of which 191 voiced their dissatisfaction of the gruesome and sometimes horrifying material that was "recommended for mature audiences."

Letters that crossed this desk called the program everything from "repulsive sensationalism" to "blatant slandering of the hunter." One author demanded a public apology.

I doubt if he'll get it during "The Echoes of The Guns of Autumn."

For the first two Saturdays and Sundays of the 1975 waterfowl hunting season, shooting sites at Lake Shelbyville's Fish Hook Waterfowl Area will be allocated through drawings at the area's check station on each of the four days.

Hunters or hunting parties must register between 4-5 a.m. on the day they wish to hunt. Those successful in the drawing may choose one of the area's staked sites. Parties may not include more than four persons or have fewer than 12 decoys. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to 1 p.m.

Bears, Packers make cuts; Rosenbloom reacts to strike

The Chicago Bears got down to the opening day limit of 43 by placing three players — offensive tackle Grady Alderman, center John Didon and running back Clifton Taylor — on waivers. Alderman and Didon were veterans, having 16 and 7 years experience, respectively. Taylor was a third-round draft choice last season . . .

Quarterback Jack Concannon was released by the Green Bay Packers with tackle Randy Jackson, also a former Bear like Concannon, was put on the injured reserve list . . .

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, angrily said that if his players "started such a renegade strike" as the New England Patriots did Saturday, "I would close our season . . . We were on our way to an agreement before the Patriots did what they did. It can only hurt things, not help."

Cassady named top defender

Craig Cassady, son of former Ohio State great Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, was named the defensive player of the week by United Press International. Cassady, a senior, picked off three Charlie Baggett passes as the Buckeyes defeated Michigan State Saturday, 21-0.

Finley, witch doctor in news

Oakland owner Charlie Finley and a Kenyan witch doctor are making news in major league baseball. The San Francisco Examiner reported that Finley received $100,000 from Gene Autry last year for the right to sign Dick Williams as manager of the California Angels.

Meanwhile, a witch doctor performed a hex on the Boston Red Sox so that the Baltimore Orioles could overtake the Sox and win the American League East title. Cost of the hex — less than $200 and two cases of beer.

Prospect golf team moves out to red-hot start

by KEITH REINHARD
Golf Editor

Hersey dropped Fremd from the undefeated ranks while Harper launched its campaign with an impressive triumph and two other local squads struggled at Quincy's invitational gathering to close out the second week of area golf action.

The latest results had the Huskies edging the Vikings 162-164 as Harper was notching a 293 to outdistance Kankakee (322) and Oakton (336), and Conant was bettering Maine West 162-176. Saturday Forest View placed 19th and Rolling Meadows 22nd in the 28-team outing at Quincy.

Still, the big news along the local links circuit thus far, has been Prospect's sizzling start. The Knights, along with Buffalo Grove and Palatine, were the only three remaining undefeated Mid-Suburban League outfits after the first week of conference action.

Cubs, Pirates split; White Sox fall

The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered out 7 doubles and Richie Zisk belted a two-run homer to rout the Chicago Cubs 9-1 behind Jim Rooker's two-hit pitching Monday and split a doubleheader after the Cubs won the opener 6-5 on a two-run ninth at Wrigley Field.

Doubles by Jerry Morales and Jose Cardenal drove in a run apiece in the ninth to hand Dave Giusti the first game defeat and give Darold Knowles his sixth victory in relief.

Rooker pitched the distance in the nightcap to win his 13th game against nine losses and retired the last 16 Cubs in a row.

Zisk's 20th homer highlighted a three-run fourth inning off rookie Willie Prall, second game loser. Dave Parker had three doubles, driving in two runs with one of them in the fifth when Duffy Dyer also had a two-run single off Buddy Schultz.

In the opener, Bill Bonham entered the ninth with a 4-2 lead, built on a two-run triple by George Mitterwald and a pair of run-scoring singles by Dave Rosello.

Bob Robertson's two-run pinch single off Paul Reuschel tied the score in the ninth and Al Oliver's single off Knowles forged a 5-4 lead moments later. But Knowles emerged with the victory when Joe Wallis hit a two-out single to trigger the rally climaxed by Morales and Cardenal with their back-to-back doubles over the head of Oliver in deep center.

KANSAS CITY — John Mayberry cracked a two-out, run-scoring single in the ninth, propelling the Kansas City Royals to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox behind the six-hit pitching of Paul Splittorff.

Splittorff, 9-8, walked three and struck out four while lowering his ERA to 2.75. He played his prep ball in Arlington Heights.

Frank White led off the ninth by drawing a walk from loser Claude Osteen, 7-15. Jim Wohlford sacrificed White to second before Rich Gossage replaced Osteen. Gossage struck out Amos Otis for the second out and intentionally walked George Brett before Mayberry cracked his first offering for the game-winning hit to right-center.

The Royals tied the score at 2-2 in the fifth when White walked, took second on a ground-out and scored on Brett's two-out single. Brett led off the fourth with a double, moved to third on a ground out and scored on a sacrifice fly by Al Cowens.

Bob Coluccio doubled for the White Sox in the third, advanced on a ground out and scored on Brian Downing's sacrifice fly. Nyls Nyman led off the fifth with a single, moved around on a wild pitch and a groundout and scored on a single by Jerry Hairston.

Sequel to 'Guns' scheduled

With hunters and sportsmen in general still vociferously debating the controversial CBS documentary "The Guns of Autumn,' 'the network has announced a sequel to the program "Echoes of The Guns of Autumn" which will discuss questions raised by the original show, Sunday, Sept. 28.

"The Guns of Autumn" brought a mixed chorus of reaction from viewers who watched the impressionable one-hour telecast, Sept. 5 depicting the killing of animals for sport.

Most hunters were boisterous in their attack of the show which they judged to be "an irresponsible, one-sided collection of anti-hunting propaganda."

The CBS national switchboard in New York lit up like a Christmas tree the night of the program as 1,100 calls — 85 per cent opposing the show — burned the telephone cables.

Locally, Chicago's WBBM-TV station was bombarded with 206 calls of which 191 voiced their dissatisfaction of the gruesome and sometimes horrifying material that was "recommended for mature audiences."

Letters that crossed this desk called the program everything from "repulsive sensationalism" to "blatant slandering of the hunter." One author demanded a public apology.

I doubt if he'll get it during "The Echoes of The Guns of Autumn."

After two earlier lottery-type allocations of permits for the 1975 shotgun deer hunting season in Illinois, a limited number of permits still are available on a first-come, first-served basis in the following counties:

NORTH — Boone, Henry Stark, Winnebago; CENTRAL — Brown, Douglas, Ford, Menard, Mercer, Morgan, Scott, Warren; SOUTH — Edwards, Gallatin, Massac, Wabash, White.

To apply, send your name, address, personal description, county you wish to hunt, $5 check or money order to the Department of Conservation, Deer Permit Office, 605 State Office Building, Springfield, Ill., 62706.

For the first two Saturdays and Sundays of the 1975 waterfowl hunting season, shooting sites at Lake Shelbyville's Fish Hook Waterfowl Area will be allocated through drawings at the area's check station on each of the four days.

Hunters or hunting parties must register between 4-5 a.m. on the day they wish to hunt. Those successful in the drawing may choose one of the area's staked sites. Parties may not include more than four persons or have fewer than 12 decoys. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to 1 p.m.

Bears, Packers make cuts; Rosenbloom reacts to strike

The Chicago Bears got down to the opening day limit of 43 by placing three players — offensive tackle Grady Alderman, center John Didon and running back Clifton Taylor — on waivers. Alderman and Didon were veterans, having 16 and 7 years experience, respectively. Taylor was a third-round draft choice last season . . .

Quarterback Jack Concannon was released by the Green Bay Packers with tackle Randy Jackson, also a former Bear like Concannon, was put on the injured reserve list . . .

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Los Angeles Rams, angrily said that if his players "started such a renegade strike" as the New England Patriots did Saturday, "I would close our season . . . We were on our way to an agreement before the Patriots did what they did. It can only hurt things, not help."

Cassady named top defender

Craig Cassady, son of former Ohio State great Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, was named the defensive player of the week by United Press International. Cassady, a senior, picked off three Charlie Baggett passes as the Buckeyes defeated Michigan State Saturday, 21-0.

Finley, witch doctor in news

Oakland owner Charlie Finley and a Kenyan witch doctor are making news in major league baseball. The San Francisco Examiner reported that Finley received $100,000 from Gene Autry last year for the right to sign Dick Williams as manager of the California Angels.

Meanwhile, a witch doctor performed a hex on the Boston Red Sox so that the Baltimore Orioles could overtake the Sox and win the American League East title. Cost of the hex — less than $200 and two cases of beer.

Pact deserves approval

The Israeli-Egyptian agreement worked out by Sec. of State Henry Kissinger represents a foot in the door for Mideast peace.

As such it deserves approval by Congress after intensive scrutiny and full debate on the implications of the expanded role now being taken by the United States.

The pact is viewed with understandable skepticism on Capitol Hill because it commits the U.S. to provide 200 civilian observers in the Sinai and to increase substantially the aid we already give both nations.

More importantly, it makes the U.S. a formal party to the Arab-Israeli conflict. Our Mideast role, though extensive, has so far been informal. This agreement would put us in the middle of an explosive situation.

Some congressional skepticism may also be attributable to the fact that U.S. diplomacy has been marked in recent years by secret commitments and official dissembling.

Recognizing those factors, we believe nonetheless that Kissinger's achievement in engineering the pact is too significant to be wasted by reluctance to expand our role in the Mideast.

As the world has seen in the last generation, Arab-Israeli relations quickly degenerate into war in the absence of diplomatic progress.

The Israeli pullback from parts of the Sinai called for in this agreement represents the kind of progress toward long-term peace that will help stave off the recurring threat of armed conflict.

This is not another Vietnam, where the U.S. deluded itself into taking an active military role that was not justified. Congress should make sure that our Mideast commitment is strictly defined so that we do not repeat that mistake.

But because of the dangers to world peace posed by an erupting Mideast, the cost of this limited U.S. involvement in peace efforts seems worth the potential return.

If this agreement is successful, it will open the way for negotiations on other Mideast issues, chief among them the plight of the Palestinian refugees.

As both sides see that favorable results can be gained from diplomacy, the danger of war will be reduced.

A positive response by Congress is now needed to complete the significant diplomatic achievement represented by this agreement.

President's risktaking unnecessary

The chilling incident in Sacramento abruptly resurrected the specter of a presidential assassination.

Now it would seem that there is to be a continuing reminder in the fact of a President who dons an armored vest when he ventures into public.

In light of the events since that dread day in Dallas and the nearly successful attempt on President Ford's life, the bullet-proof vest must be acknowledged as a prudent measure.

But the very prudence in seeking to give the President more protection underscores the folly of allowing him to go where such a safegurd might be of value.

President Ford, like all politicians, appears to receive a genuine lift from mingling with crowds; and shaking the hand of the President is to many Americans a moment of genuine pride.

Neither justifies risking the President's life.

It has never been seriously argued that the President can be adequately protected in a crowd. Only because Lynn Fromme did not know how to operate a handgun is Gerald Ford alive today.

How many tragedies and near tragedies must be allowed before that fact is recognized?

In these days of television communications, it simply is no longer necessary — either for public or political benefits — for the President to expose himself to unrestricted crowds.

It should be considered a duty of his office to take what reasonable precautions he can to preserve his own life. It was proved in Sacramento that he cannot do that by mingling in crowds.

Wrong ox gored in teacher protest

For those teachers of Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 who loudly protested their "phony money" paychecks in front of the Mount Prospect State Bank last Friday, we have some advice:

Your irritation is understandable, but your protest more properly should have been held in front of the administrative offices of School Dist. 59.

The financial plight of Dist. 59 is the culmination of years of neglect on the part of the school board and administration. Despite a darkening fiscal picture, they have not curtailed programs and spending in keeping with the gravity of the situation.

Having borrowed to the hilt through normal means, the district has resorted to paying teachers by special teacher "orders," a method of borrowing that smacks of depression era script. The district sought bids on these "orders," and the Mount Prospect State Bank came in with the lowest interest rate.

The bank set up special hours to accommodate the teachers, and it made special arrangements for a bank in Elk Grove Village to cash the orders for its customers.

If the teachers still feel inconvenienced — as well they might — they should take their case to the school district, which created the problem, and not the bank which is helping them get at least some kind of paycheck.

Color photos 'better than lineup' for criminal I.D.s

by ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — Victims and witnesses to a crime often find the police identification lineup disturbing and embarrassing and the chances they will pick out the wrong person are as high as 50 per cent, according to two British psychologists.

After a study of the procedure in which the suspect is lined up with a number of roughly similar physical types, Helen Dent and Fiona Gray believe it would be better for both sides if color photographs were used instead.

In an article in New Behavior, they told of an experiment that led to their research. A slow motion "crime" was staged for a selected audience which had a good view of the criminal. Soon afterward members of the audience were asked to pick the "criminal" from an identification parade.

"ONLY HALF OF them did so correctly," they said. "Under such optimum conditions, this performance is rather appalling and illustrates the great difficulty of the task that an eyewitness to a crime may have to perform."

They said this was in line with modern psychological theory that perception and memory are active and constructive rather than simple copying devices.

"Different observers," they said, "give different reports of the same event because each sees the situation from his own point of view and interprets it according to his own feelings, prejudice and past experience.

"Rarely will he be able to walk straight up to the suspect and confidently identify him as the criminal, for even the criminal himself will not correspond exactly to the person the witness remembers. Whether or not the witness decides to identify someone depends not only on how closely that person resembles his memory of the criminal but also on how close he thinks the resemblance ought to be before he makes a positive identification.

"The situation itself may bias the witness towards making an identification, since he knows that the police have brought in someone they have reason to suspect. The officer conducting the parade may be sure in his own mind that the suspect is guilty and his hope that the witness will be able to identify him may be communicated, perhaps unconsciously, to the witness."

The psychologists said that in search of a more reliable method of identification and one that would be less disturbing to witnesses they staged mock identity parades using color photographs instead of actual people.

THE RESULTS WERE better than the actual confrontations.

"The argument that photographs are not sufficiently lifelike to test adquately the witness' ability to identify the suspect can be overcome to a great extent by the use of good quality color slides showing various views of each person and projected to give a life-size image," they said.

"The fact that the proportion of mistaken positive identifications was lower in the slides conditions than in the conventional situation should encourage more thorough investigations into the possibility of using color slides for identification purposes in real life."

Chapman nod 'incredible'

I find Rep. Chapman's recent endorsement of Dan Walker for reelection most incredible and mystifying. I was always of the opinion that Rep. Chapman represented independent Democratic suburban politics and decency in government. I now find that she is part and parcel of the Dan Walker machine with little regard for true independent representation. I would remind you that there are no announced opponents of Dan Walker and any endorsement now is nothing but self-serving machine-style politics.

In my opinion, Mr. Walker has betrayed the principles that he ran under in 1972. He promised us an end to patronage and now has built a huge patronage army. His patronage army also includes several hundred "ghost payrollers" that cheat the taxpayers out of an honest day's work and instead work full-time on the politics of Dan Walker. He promised us increased school aid and lowering of local taxes. However, he has vetoed school aid bills in 1973, 1974 and 1975. He claims to be lowering state taxes but the truth is that local school district taxes will increase and programs decrease at the same time. Additionally, he has outrageously decreased aid to mentally and handicapped children in the face of their desperate cries for help. I don't even want to comment upon what Dan Walker has done to welfare children, senior citizens and public health programs because every daily newspaper in Illinois has already told us.

The truth of the matter is that Dan Walker is a bad governor for the people of Illinois and certainly not representative of the Democratic Party of Adlai Stevenson. I urge you to critically examine Mr. Walker's public record before accepting an endorsement of one of his political machine.

Dear Marilyn McDonald:

Just today I received a copy of your article of Friday, Aug. 29 in The Herald, and I must say it is one of the most objective articles I have read regarding the IEA president.

Is it the double-cross, the triple-cross, or the quadruple-cross? In Hoffman Estates, on the Rte. 72 median strip opposite Evanston, Grand Canyon and Spring Mill, there are crossover points but no direction instructions. As a result, when you are making right or left turns from 72 or from the other streets, you can end up in the middle right or left side of the opening. Cars are coming at you every which way, and it's very dangerous in light of the murderous traffic, not only during rush hour but at off hours also. You can always count on plenty of traffic, and making a crossing there is extremely hazardous. There is room for about four or five cars, maybe more, side by side in these crossover areas and nobody seems sure what they are supposed to do. It would be of great help to me at least if signs were posted giving instruction on which way to proceed when making that most hair-raising maneuver. Driving out here is like playing Russian roulette as it is. Being confused on top of it due to poor design of roads is like pulling the trigger on the loaded chamber, and could result in lethal consequences.

It would be of great help to me at least if signs were posted giving instruction on which way to proceed when making that most hair-raising maneuver. Driving out here is like playing Russian roulette as it is. Being confused on top of it due to poor design of roads is like pulling the trigger on the loaded chamber, and could result in lethal consequences.

for housewives and mothers to strike for a day. 'I feel I'm not a parent because I have to be, but because I want to be," she said. "I think there is a need to focus on the fact that the role of women is changing, but I think there are better ways we could do that than going on strike and not cooking. I coldn't reject my family."

OTHER WOMEN said they positively will not strike. Ruth McBride, a secretary at the Arlington Heights police station, said, "I sympathize with the libbers in part, especially on equal pay for equal performance, but I don't plan to strike. I don't feel I am discriminated against here. If I was an executive or something like that, I think I'd probably feel discrimination more."

KAREN KNAACK, an employe of Lyn's Hallmark Shop, 18 S. Evergreen St., Arlington Heights, also said she wouldn't strike. Her father owns the store, she said, and "My father wouldn't allow me to."

Even strong strike supporters admitted they have trouble applying it to their own lives. Judy Keller of Arlington Heights, a member of NOW, said, "As an active NOW member I will support the national organization. I think it would be effective when women realize the importance of contributions both economically and noneconomically and this is a way to call attention to that contribution."

However, when asked if she will be on strike Oct. 29, Ms. Keller said, "Unfortunately I have a meeting planned for that day."

3 more suspected encephalitis cases

Three more suspected cases of encephalitis were reported at Northwest suburban hospitals Monday as public health officials said the epidemic is continuing to subside.

A 40-year-old Wheeling woman, admitted to Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, Saturday, was listed in good condition with suspected encephalitis. A 45-year-old Des Plaines man and a 50-year-old Highland Park woman are hospitalized at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, with symptoms of the disease.

Dr. John B. Hall, director of the County Health Dept., predicted Monday that scattered cases of the mosquito-carried disease will be reported until the first frost.

Hall said the number of encephalitis cases in the north half of the county have been light compared with the number in the south part of the county. "We have had only one confirmed case up north, a Northbrook woman, and only one probable case in Morton Grove," Hall said. "The disease just hasn't been moving up north. Why, I don't know."

THE ILLINOIS Dept. of Public Health reported 24 new suspected, probable and confirmed cases of encephalitis Monday. Five new probable cases were reported hospitalized in south Cook County. Eight Cook County cases, all in southern suburbs, also were transferred from the suspected to the confirmed list.

Since the encephalitis epidemic started last month, 65 confirmed cases, 77 probable cases and 85 suspected cases have been reported in Illinois. Cook County has had 30 confirmed cases, 43 probable cases and 45 suspect cases.

Mary Huck, spokesman for the state, said all of these cases are persons who became ill two to three weeks ago.

Hall cautioned people to continue to use insect repellent when going outdoors at night. "Use a mosquito repellent and enjoy yourself," he said. "But don't panic if you get bitten."

Reducing weight helps cut arthritis pain

I am 70 and have osteoarthritis in an ankle. I've had two "breakthroughs" in the joint, for which my doctor has prescribed aspirin and the last time Butazolidin. With this treatment it took about six weeks until I could play golf, which is my main hobby.

I have two questions. Do you think playing golf may contribute to a recurrence? What happens to the joint when the improvement comes after about a month? Is it temporary?

The most common mistake most people make with arthritis is not enough, too much, or the wrong kind of activity. It is important to have movement through the full range of all joints regularly.

Osteoarthritis is a wear and tear process and too much of the wrong exercise increases the wear. Most people with osteo-arthritis do better to have some mild exercise involving full movement and then to rest.

I would suggest you can minimize your ankle damage by keeping your weight down and in between golf games get off your feet and rest your ankle. Minimize the work your ankle must do.

The pain of osteoarthritis is relieved by resting the involved jont. If the hip is involved bed rest will usually relieve the pain in a relatively short time. With severe cases it is better to be up for a short time each day, then back to bed — intersperse activity with rest during the day.

If you play too much golf, walk too much, weigh too much and otherwise wear your ankle, it will contribute to a recurrence or progression of your problem.

The improvement you notice with treatment is usually because the irritation to the soft tissues from mechanical injury subsides. When drugs diminish inflammation or the joint is rested so the soft tissues can heal, there is improvement. If you return to abusing the joint the symptoms will recur. Note this is different from rheumatoid (inflammatory) arthritis which can come and go sometimes in spite of both the doctor and the patient.

The doctor says
by Lawrence E. Lamb

My husband is on a low cholesterol diet. He likes bananas, and someone told us they are high in cholesterol. I have never heard that. Is it true?

Completely false. Plants and plant products do not contain cholesterol. You only find cholesterol in animal products, meat, milk and eggs.

Some vegetable products are high in fat which can cause the body to form increased amounts of fat. A good example here is coconut oil with is high in saturated fat and should be avoided by anyone on a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet.

Bananas are very low in fat content. The only drawback they have is that if you really go overboard and eat so many that you increase your calorie intake, then the excess calories in the diet can limit the success of a low-fat, low cholesterol diet.

HARPER COLLEGE STAFF nurse Rosemary Murray checks the throat of a student patient, just one of the various tasks she performs to keep Harper students healthy in mind and body. Mrs. Murray says the students are very conscious of good health care today and take advantage of all Harper's health services, seminars on drugs and venereal disease and the annual health fair.

Rosemary Murray

Student health her job

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

Helping the kids with their homework is one thing. Doing your own at the same time is something else!

Rosemary Murray, a registered nurse and mother of four, knows about such dilemmas first hand. She spent two years recently earning a bachelor's degree in scientific studies at Barat College, Lake Forest, and now is the staff nurse at Harper College.

"The kids would see me doing my homework, and decide to do theirs. Sometimes I'd end up helping with theirs instead of doing my own." Rosemary smiled and looked thoughtful. "But my role as a nurse had changed, and I felt I should update my knowledge."

A hospital nurse first, Mrs. Murray trained at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Chicago and worked there and at Children's Memorial before moving to Palatine six years ago.

AT HARPER she's learned a school nurse does more than dispense aspirin and bandages. "We do more for the mind than the body," she said.

Mrs. Murray's added education makes her feel more capable in this new role. She guides and counsels Harper students, staff and faculty in health care. She talks to more than 50 persons daily, and sometimes lectures on such topics as first aid, birth control, resuscitation and good grooming. Other duties range from assisting the college physician to advising walk-in and telephone patients.

Most inquiries deal with sexuality, she said. Requests for birth control and venereal disease information and for help with problem pregnancies top the list.

"Often students just need someone to talk to, knowing such conversations are confidential. It's our job to listen, to try to understand and not be judgmental," Rosemary explained Harper's Health Services policy.

THE COLLEGE health services provide free testing including tests for pregnancies, veneral disease diagnosis and treatment, throat cultures, and skin tests for tuberculosis. And the door is open for those seeking other health aid — from allergy injections to help with insurance claims, disturbed sleep and many others. Anyone needing additional health care or counseling is referred to the proper agency or private physician.

Rosemary has some good news about Harper students and the state of their health. "Today's students are very conscious of good health care. They take advantage of health services, seminars on drug education and venereal disease, and of the spring Health Fair," she cited.

About 40 health-related agencies participate in the annual fair, setting up their exhibits at the student center. These include heart, hearing and vision testing at no charge to the community. "We especially welcome senior citizens to make use of this testing," Rosemary said.

MRS. MURRAY'S goal for Health Services is an expanded staff. The present staff is headed up by Elizabeth McKay, director of environmental health, and includes Rosemary, day-time staff nurse, Judy Surdey, evening nurse, and Georgia Lock, part-time nurse. A larger staff would mean more time to spend with students. "And that's important to me," Rosemary declared.

Though there was little time for fun during her back-to-school stint, Mrs. Murray enjoys family life. When Kathy, now 14, Jennifer, 12, Michael, 11, and Kevin, 7, were younger, she spent most of her time with them. She worked part-time in emergency room and in obstetrics while husband Michael, who works for Illinois Bell Telephone, stayed with the children. "Michael was extremely helpful. The children never knew I was gone," she recalled.

WHEN THE FAMILY moved to Palatine from Chicago, Rosemary stayed home for awhile. "I really love the suburbs. The neighbors are friendly and helpful . . . and the schools good."

Now there's more time and space, the family enjoy outdoor relaxation and sports. They ride bikes, play tennis, grow a small vegetable garden and cook outdoors and the children are avid swimmers.

For special weekend outings the Murrays do such things as attend state fairs and camp. Most recently, a first for them, they spent two weeks camping in Nova Scotia. "Wt rented a motor home and had a marvelous time!" said Rosemary.

SHE AND THE girls bake, knit, crochet and sew and the entire family join in growing green plants indoors ("They're growing like crazy!") and making ecology boxes.

And not to be forgotten is family pet Kerry, the Irish setter. He's very important in their life. "Many times I would like to kick her out, but I am attached to her, too," said Rosemary with a good-natured shrug.

Here's how to dry apples

The home line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: If you have the information, I'd appreciate your telling me how to dry apples. — Mrs. Edward Poole

Peel the apples and cut them into quarters, rings or circles. Spread on a flat surface, cover with cheesecloth and expose to sunlight. A government pamphlet recommends sprinkling with sulphur if you want them to not turn dark. If you don't mind them darkening, skip the sulphur. The drying takes anywhere from 36 to 48 hours, depending on the intensity of the sun and the moisture content of the apples. Once thoroughly dried, they go into suitable containers or can be stored in the freezer.

His nibs is extraordinarily helpful and handy with kitchen chores, but he bombs out every once in a while. An aluminum pan had some burned gook in it so he just sprinkled chlorinated cleanser in it, added water and left it overnight. Last thing anyone should do to aluminum, of course. The gook came out, but the pan was black up to the waterline. It had to go back on the stove with two teaspoons of cream of tartar and water beyond the black waterline. The stain came off and a quick rub with No. 3 steel wool restored the pan's looks. I'm hoping the lesson took!

HARPER COLLEGE STAFF nurse Rosemary Murray checks the throat of a student patient, just one of the various tasks she performs to keep Harper students healthy in mind and body. Mrs. Murray says the students are very conscious of good health care today and take advantage of all Harper's health services, seminars on drugs and venereal disease and the annual health fair.

Rosemary Murray

Student health her job

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

Helping the kids with their homework is one thing. Doing your own at the same time is something else!

Rosemary Murray, a registered nurse and mother of four, knows about such dilemmas first hand. She spent two years recently earning a bachelor's degree in scientific studies at Barat College, Lake Forest, and now is the staff nurse at Harper College.

"The kids would see me doing my homework, and decide to do theirs. Sometimes I'd end up helping with theirs instead of doing my own." Rosemary smiled and looked thoughtful. "But my role as a nurse had changed, and I felt I should update my knowledge."

A hospital nurse first, Mrs. Murray trained at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Chicago and worked there and at Children's Memorial before moving to Palatine six years ago.

AT HARPER she's learned a school nurse does more than dispense aspirin and bandages. "We do more for the mind than the body," she said.

Mrs. Murray's added education makes her feel more capable in this new role. She guides and counsels Harper students, staff and faculty in health care. She talks to more than 50 persons daily, and sometimes lectures on such topics as first aid, birth control, resuscitation and good grooming. Other duties range from assisting the college physician to advising walk-in and telephone patients.

Most inquiries deal with sexuality, she said. Requests for birth control and venereal disease information and for help with problem pregnancies top the list.

"Often students just need someone to talk to, knowing such conversations are confidential. It's our job to listen, to try to understand and not be judgmental," Rosemary explained Harper's Health Services policy.

THE COLLEGE health services provide free testing including tests for pregnancies, veneral disease diagnosis and treatment, throat cultures, and skin tests for tuberculosis. And the door is open for those seeking other health aid — from allergy injections to help with insurance claims, disturbed sleep and many others. Anyone needing additional health care or counseling is referred to the proper agency or private physician.

Rosemary has some good news about Harper students and the state of their health. "Today's students are very conscious of good health care. They take advantage of health services, seminars on drug education and venereal disease, and of the spring Health Fair," she cited.

About 40 health-related agencies participate in the annual fair, setting up their exhibits at the student center. These include heart, hearing and vision testing at no charge to the community. "We especially welcome senior citizens to make use of this testing," Rosemary said.

MRS. MURRAY'S goal for Health Services is an expanded staff. The present staff is headed up by Elizabeth McKay, director of environmental health, and includes Rosemary, day-time staff nurse, Judy Surdey, evening nurse, and Georgia Lock, part-time nurse. A larger staff would mean more time to spend with students. "And that's important to me," Rosemary declared.

Though there was little time for fun during her back-to-school stint, Mrs. Murray enjoys family life. When Kathy, now 14, Jennifer, 12, Michael, 11, and Kevin, 7, were younger, she spent most of her time with them. She worked part-time in emergency room and in obstetrics while husband Michael, who works for Illinois Bell Telephone, stayed with the children.

"Michael was extremely helpful. The children never knew I was gone," she recalled.

WHEN THE FAMILY moved to Palatine from Chicago, Rosemary stayed home for awhile. "I really love the suburbs. The neighbors are friendly and helpful . . . and the schools good."

Now there's more time and space, the family enjoy outdoor relaxation and sports. They ride bikes, play tennis, grow a small vegetable garden and cook outdoors and the children are avid swimmers.

For special weekend outings the Murrays do such things as attend state fairs and camp. Most recently, a first for them, they spent two weeks camping in Nova Scotia. "Wt rented a motor home and had a marvelous time!" said Rosemary.

SHE AND THE girls bake, knit, crochet and sew and the entire family join in growing green plants indoors ("They're growing like crazy!") and making ecology boxes.

And not to be forgotten is family pet Kerry, the Irish setter. He's very important in their life. "Many times I would like to kick her out, but I am attached to her, too," said Rosemary with a good-natured shrug.

Here's how to dry apples

The home line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: If you have the information, I'd appreciate your telling me how to dry apples. — Mrs. Edward Poole

Peel the apples and cut them into quarters, rings or circles. Spread on a flat surface, cover with cheesecloth and expose to sunlight. A government pamphlet recommends sprinkling with sulphur if you want them to not turn dark. If you don't mind them darkening, skip the sulphur. The drying takes anywhere from 36 to 48 hours, depending on the intensity of the sun and the moisture content of the apples. Once thoroughly dried, they go into suitable containers or can be stored in the freezer.

Way back when people had attics, apples were cut into quarters or eighths. White twine went into a big darning needle which was pushed through the pieces, leaving space between each. Then they were left to hang so the dry air could get to them. But how many people have attics these days?

Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Catlin III

Family comes from Florida for wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moyer

Although her family moved from Arlington Heights to Winter Haven, Fla., last year, Diane Schreiber stayed on in the area and just recently became the bride of another Arlington resident, Richard Moyer. The couple exchanged vows and rings the afternoon of Aug. 3 in St. James Catholic Church.

The Walter Schreibers came north for the wedding festivities, with Diane's sister, Janet, serving as a bridesmaid and her brother, Mike, a groomsman. Debbie Schlexer, Arlington Heights, was maid of honor; Liz Ryan, Mount Prospect, and Judy Worrell, Fond du Lac, Wis., the other bridesmaids.

RICHARD IS THE SON of Mrs. William Moyer of Arlington Heights. His brother, Mike, was a groomsman along with Diane's brother and Al Worrell of Fond du Lac. Best man was Brian Casey of Arlington Heights.

The wedding reception took place at Casa Royale after which the newlyweds spent two weeks in Florida.

Diane attended Arlington High School and Harper College. Her bridegroom went to St. Viator High and is now at Harper, studying for an associate degree in mechanical engineering. He also works for Thomas Engineering in Hoffman Estates.

They are living in a Palatine apartment.

Nuptials a family affair

All 10 members of the Donald F. Huebner family of Mount Prospect took part in the Aug. 16 wedding festivities of Donald Frank Huebner Jr. and Jeanne Annette Meilahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Meilahn of Glenview. The 5:30 p.m. ceremony was held at Glenview's Immanuel Lutheran Church where the groom's parents sang a duet to the bride and groom following the processional.

Jeanne wore an ivory gown of organdy and old-fashioned lace with her grandmother's gold cross at her neck and her mother's wedding headpiece securing her veil. She carried a hanky carried by brides of three generations of Huebners before her. Her flowers were carnations, mums, roses, daisies, stephanotis and English ivy.

DRESSED IN blue floral print gowns were the matrons of honor, both sisters of the bride, Mrs. Sharon Meyer of Rolling Meadows and Mrs. Judy Krueger of Deerfield, and bridesmaids Donna Cox of Glenview and Cindy Trudeau of Arlington Heights. They carried yellow and white daisies and baby's breath.

As flower girl, 5-year-old Mary Esther Huebner, the groom's youngest sister, carried a basket of daisies and baby's breath. Tom Bunke, 6, of Morton Grove, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer.

Barry Huebner served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Ted Bierdeman of Arlington Heights, Greg Meyer of Rolling Meadows and James Martin, the groom's cousin, of Cedarburg, Wis. Ushers were the groom's brother, Orrin, and Bill Krueger of Deerfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Huebner Jr.

COMPLETING THE Huebner participation in the wedding, brothers Scott and Chris served as acolytes, and sisters Heidi and Rebecca were junior hostesses during the reception at Glenview Country House. After a two-week stay in Wisconsin, the newlyweds reside in Skokie where Jeanne works for Charles A. Stevens at Old Orchard shopping center. Don, a graduate of Hersey High School, is employed in Chicago by Federal Life Insurance Co.

Pair met at roller rink

A meeting at a roller rink led to the wedding of Rose Fuchs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fuchs, Des Plaines, and William Herrmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herrmann, Prospect Heights.

The Aug. 2 ceremony took place at 1 p.m. in St. Zachary Church, Des Plaines, in a setting of rainbow colors.

Joyce Desmond, Des Plaines, was Rose's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Sharon Brownsen, Des Plaines, and Gail Herrmann, the groom's sister. Four-year-old Kathie Wangrow, the groom's cousin from Chicago, was flower girl.

Mario Vatali, Prospect Heights, served as best man. Also in the groom's party were Jim Winkler, Arlington Heights; Joe and Tom Fuchs, the bride's brothers; and Rick Bieg, Prospect Heights.

Following a reception for 200 guests at Carpenters Union Hall in Des Plaines, the couple honeymooned in St. Louis.

Rose, a '73 graduate of Elk Grove High School, is employed at West Point Pepperell in Des Plaines. William is a '70 graduate of Wheeling and a '72 graduate of Southern Illinois University. He is employed in Chicago at Warren and Van Praag.

The couple is making their home in Mount Prospect.

Bride wears great-grandma's brooch

Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Catlin III

An antique gold brooch originally worn on her great-grandmother's wedding day in 1882, was the "something" old and borrowed by Marilyn Carol Irwin for her marriage to Mark Seavey Catlin III, son of the Mark S. Catlins, Appleton, Wis. Marilyn is the daughter of the Nathaniel A. Irwins, Arlington Heights.

The Aug. 16 ceremony was held in St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, at 2 p.m. A pink color scheme was featured.

For the wedding Marilyn fashioned an ivory eyelet gown trimmed in lace. A matching Juliet cap held her veil, and she carried white roses, daisies, miniature carnations, Starburst mums, baby's breath and ivy.

HER MATRON OF HONOR was her sister, Nancy Romness, Evanston, who sewed her own pinafore-style pink floral gown and held an arrangement of miniature orange carnations, yellow daisies, Peruvian lillies, ivy and baby's breath. A circlet of the same varieties of flowers decorated her hair.

Thomas Lhost, Appleton, was best man and ushers were Donald Lang, Mark's brother-in-law from Appleton, and Mark D. Romness, Marilyn's brother-in-law from Evanston.

A garden reception for 90 guests was held at the bride's parent's home. Their yard was decorated with a pink tent and white tables and chairs. The couple then left for a honeymoon in Aspen, Colo.

Marilyn is a '69 graduate of Prospect High School, and a '73 graduate of St. Olaf College. She is now attending graduate school in Foods and Nutrition at the University of Wisconsin.

Mark is also a '73 graduate of St. Olaf. They are living in Menomonie, Wis.

Shrew — world's tiniest mammal

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to Kam Wing Chong, 11, of Montreal, Quebec, Canada, for her question:

WHICH IS THE SMALLEST MAMMAL?

This furry little fellow is about as big as your little finger — and he tries very hard to keep out of sight. But like all of nature's small children, he has important work to do in the world. He rids the soil of pesky grubs and bugs that prey on the roots of plants. So even the smallest mammal has an important role in ecology.

You might mistake the smallest mammal for a teenage mouse, though he is not related to the mousy rodents. He is a shrew, and his family tree goes way back to the days of the dinosaurs. When cornered, he is a scrappy little character. The rows of sharp teeth in his long snout are always eager to bite a finger. The bite may be poisonous, which makes him unpopular.

The mouse-looking shrew has musk glands that give off an unpleasant odor. Apparently his odor also gives him an unpleasant flavor. Cats and other mousers refuse to eat a shrew, though they hunt and catch him. No doubt his horrible smell has helped him to survive through the ages.

There are 170 shrew species and, apart from Australasia and the polar regions, they are at home almost everywhere. There are white-toothed and red-toothed species. The largest types are bigger than mice. The smallest is the pygma shrew; he is about 2 inches long, with a 1-inch tail, and wieghs no more than a dime. He is the smallest of all the mammals.

Like other shrews, he lives a rather solitary life — though there may be thousands of his kinfolk in a meadow. In the animal world, energy is related to the area of body surface. Smaller animals have a relatively large surface, so they need more food to keep going. The small shrew is so famished that he cannot live through the night without a meal.

He solves this problem by dividing day and night into three-hour periods for resting and eating. He will eat almost anything, including seeds and meat. But his favorite menu consists of grubs and bugs.

The female shrew builds a ball-shape nest of leaves and grasses and usually bears two litters during the summer. The four to 10 babes are blind and helpless, and each one weighs about half a gram. Being mammals, they feed on mother's milk. In less than a month they are ready to leave home. The nervous, famished shrews become old and worn out after only about 15 months.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Jeff Hoch, 8, of San Anselmo, Calif., for his question:

ARE TORNADOS THE SAME AS HURRICANES?

Tornados visit certain places; hurricanes visit other places. But neither of these wild storms is likely to visit the fair city of San Francisco. There the people learn about them from reports in the newspaper and on the television. And the dreadful damage done by hurricanes and tornados seems to be the same. Actually these firece storms are different — and so is the damage they cause.

A hurricane is a huge storm, several hundred miles wide. It sweeps in from the sea, dashing wild waves far over the land. It lashes and dashes down buildings for miles, and often keeps blowing for two or three days. A tornado is a small storm, less than a mile wide. It strikes down from a cloud and wipes out a narrow path of total destruction. Its winds are wilder than hurricane winds, and it does more damage over a fairly small area. But the whole thing is over in a few minutes.

'Phyllis' like a mother to actress—on TV and off

by LISA GERRITSEN
Written for
United Press International

It's hard to tell where Cloris Leachman leaves off and "Phyllis" begins or the other way around. I've been playing Cloris' daughter, Bess, for five years now, off and on when we were written into the "Mary Tyler Moore Show." I guess you could say that I've spent some of my most formative years with her, and I'm sure I've benefited a great deal.

The first thing that strikes me about Cloris is how much she's into the show and really wants it to turn out really good. She wants it to work but not at the expense of wringing us all out. She finds plenty of time to joke and have fun with all the rest of us. And it's not just Cloris, all of us feel the same way.

At 17 I'm the youngest in years but I guess you could say that eight years as an actress have given me a serious side when it comes to my work. Henry Jones and Jane Rose, who play the Dexters, are over 55, and Dick Schaal and Liz Torres are king of in their middle ages.

BUT WE'RE ALL with Cloris in being intent on getting the right reaction from our audience. We work hard and together to extract the very best timing and line reading to make them like us and laugh with us.

I've learned a whole lot from Cloris. I can't tell you specific things because they're all so subtle. Our relationship has changed from when we first worked together in 1970. I was just a kid then, 12. Now she relates to me in a more adult way. . .you know, actress to actress. I just love her for it.

She doesn't talk down to me or anyone else on the show and she never has. She has strong ideas about some things and voices them constantly. But she never demands and can change at the drop of a cue if it looks like it'll work better another way.

THE MORE you're around a person the better you're able to get along with them, if you really work at it. And we get along great. There's no teacher pupil relationship here, either. We're all fellow actors. I've sought her out many times for advice and she's never failed to give and give.

There's nothing selfish about Cloris and I think that goes for all of us. It might sound corny to say that that's the stamp of all the MTM shows, but it's true. We really get along well together. From Grant Tinker on down. We work as a family. We're really close. Oh, sure, we do our share of yelling and we sometimes let off steam but it's the kind of thing you do in a genuine family. You care for each other more than you yell.

Ours isn't an icky group though. I mean we've done a whole lot of sticky sentimental things like giving each other presents on Christmas or birthdays. Nothing that can't be eaten, that is. We're all the time bringing each other snacks and goodies. Cloris has strong ideas about what's good to eat and she's always handing out fruits, nut and vegetables. And I must say, they're good.

You'll get some idea of how close we are, I mean the actors and the crew and executives, when I tell you we're having a dress up, costume Halloween party in October just for the "Phyllis" family. And with Cloris on hand, it'll be the old fashion kind. . .dunking for apples and very healthy!

Jacoby gadget gets to slam in end play

American Bridge Teacher's Assn. President Ed Gordy and his wife, Laura Jane, believe in giving beginner's hands that show some important principle of play, but where there is only one really good line.

The bidding as shown employs a 1935 Jacoby gadget. This gadget is that the jump to four after partner opens two shows trumps, but denies an ace, king of singleton.

South is disappointed to find dummy with three spades, but the hand is still a sure thing.

All South has to do is to draw trumps, cash his clubs and diamonds, enter dummy with the nine of trumps, lead a spade and stick in the jack or 10 after East plays low.

West wins and is totally and completely end-played.

A Jacoby modern gadget gets to the slam after a bidding sequence that differs from the one shown in the box. Two clubs (artificial) two diamonds (no ace, king or queen), two hearts, three hearts, six hearts.

'Phyllis' like a mother to actress—on TV and off

by LISA GERRITSEN
Written for
United Press International

It's hard to tell where Cloris Leachman leaves off and "Phyllis" begins or the other way around. I've been playing Cloris' daughter, Bess, for five years now, off and on when we were written into the "Mary Tyler Moore Show." I guess you could say that I've spent some of my most formative years with her, and I'm sure I've benefited a great deal.

The first thing that strikes me about Cloris is how much she's into the show and really wants it to turn out really good. She wants it to work but not at the expense of wringing us all out. She finds plenty of time to joke and have fun with all the rest of us. And it's not just Cloris, all of us feel the same way.

At 17 I'm the youngest in years but I guess you could say that eight years as an actress have given me a serious side when it comes to my work. Henry Jones and Jane Rose, who play the Dexters, are over 55, and Dick Schaal and Liz Torres are king of in their middle ages.

BUT WE'RE ALL with Cloris in being intent on getting the right reaction from our audience. We work hard and together to extract the very best timing and line reading to make them like us and laugh with us.

I've learned a whole lot from Cloris. I can't tell you specific things because they're all so subtle. Our relationship has changed from when we first worked together in 1970. I was just a kid then, 12. Now she relates to me in a more adult way. . .you know, actress to actress. I just love her for it.

She doesn't talk down to me or anyone else on the show and she never has. She has strong ideas about some things and voices them constantly. But she never demands and can change at the drop of a cue if it looks like it'll work better another way.

THE MORE you're around a person the better you're able to get along with them, if you really work at it. And we get along great. There's no teacher pupil relationship here, either. We're all fellow actors. I've sought her out many times for advice and she's never failed to give and give.

There's nothing selfish about Cloris and I think that goes for all of us. It might sound corny to say that that's the stamp of all the MTM shows, but it's true. We really get along well together. From Grant Tinker on down. We work as a family. We're really close. Oh, sure, we do our share of yelling and we sometimes let off steam but it's the kind of thing you do in a genuine family. You care for each other more than you yell.

Ours isn't an icky group though. I mean we've done a whole lot of sticky sentimental things like giving each other presents on Christmas or birthdays. Nothing that can't be eaten, that is. We're all the time bringing each other snacks and goodies. Cloris has strong ideas about what's good to eat and she's always handing out fruits, nut and vegetables. And I must say, they're good.

You'll get some idea of how close we are, I mean the actors and the crew and executives, when I tell you we're having a dress up, costume Halloween party in October just for the "Phyllis" family. And with Cloris on hand, it'll be the old fashion kind. . .dunking for apples and very healthy!

Jacoby gadget gets to slam in end play

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

American Bridge Teacher's Assn. President Ed Gordy and his wife, Laura Jane, believe in giving beginner's hands that show some important principle of play, but where there is only one really good line.

The bidding as shown employs a 1935 Jacoby gadget. This gadget is that the jump to four after partner opens two shows trumps, but denies an ace, king of singleton.

South is disappointed to find dummy with three spades, but the hand is still a sure thing.

All South has to do is to draw trumps, cash his clubs and diamonds, enter dummy with the nine of trumps, lead a spade and stick in the jack or 10 after East plays low.

West wins and is totally and completely end-played.

A Jacoby modern gadget gets to the slam after a bidding sequence that differs from the one shown in the box. Two clubs (artificial) two diamonds (no ace, king or queen), two hearts, three hearts, six hearts.

New claims drop

Unemployment numbers stable

The number of Illinoisans seeking unemployment benefits remained virtually unchanged last week, but the number of new claims dropped by 13.5 per cent.

The Illinois Dept. of Labor announced that 228,526 persons filed unemployment claims in the week ending Sept. 6. That represented a drop of .7 per cent — 1,608 persons — over the previous week.

Among those claims were initial filings by 14,246 persons, down 13.5 per cent from the previous week.

In Cook and DuPage counties, the number of unemployment claims totaled 130,539, a decrease of 8 per cent from the previous week. Unemployment claims in the Chicago-DuPage area, however, were 202 per cent higher than one year ago.

Campaign manager named

A Chicago attorney, James L. Fletcher, was named as campaign manager Monday by former U.S. Atty. James R. Thompson, a Republican candidate for governor.

Fletcher, 32, said he will take a leave of absence from the firm of Burditt and Calkins. George Burditt, one of the partners in the firm was the 1974 Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate against Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, Ill.

Thompson also named Thomas L. Norton, 27, a press aide to Burditt in the senatorial campaign, and Gary L. Stark, 29, formerly an assistant to Thompson, to his campaign staff.

Thompson told a news conference, "Each man shares by belief that only through openness and honesty can we return to Illinois the leadership that the people of this state deserve."

Fund-raising chief picked

Gaylord Freeman, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago, will head fund-raising efforts for President Ford's election campaign in Illinois, it was announced Monday.

The first meeting of the United Republican Fund for the 1976 election campaign is scheduled Wednesday. A URF spokesman said the group will meet soon with Republican officeholders and party officials to coordinate campaign activities.

Freeman said he plans to "appeal widely to all citizens to support President Ford's campaign."

Illinois briefs

Nab gunman after chase

A suspect in a Wilmette robbery spilled money from a shopping bag on the Kennedy Expressway Monday during an auto chase that ended in his capture by Chicago police.

A lone gunman, wearing a Halloween mask, had forced employes of a National Food Store in the Edens Plaza Shopping Center to open a safe before store hours.

The intruder tied up the store manager and two male employes. He then ordered three female employes into the cashier's booth, forcing one to open the safe and taking about $2,000.

A passing motorist reported seeing a man jump a fence near the shopping center and run to a car on the southbound Edens Expressway. Police later halted a car which answered the motorist's description on the Kennedy. Both the fleeing passenger and the driver were taken into custody.

Postal hikes 'excessive'

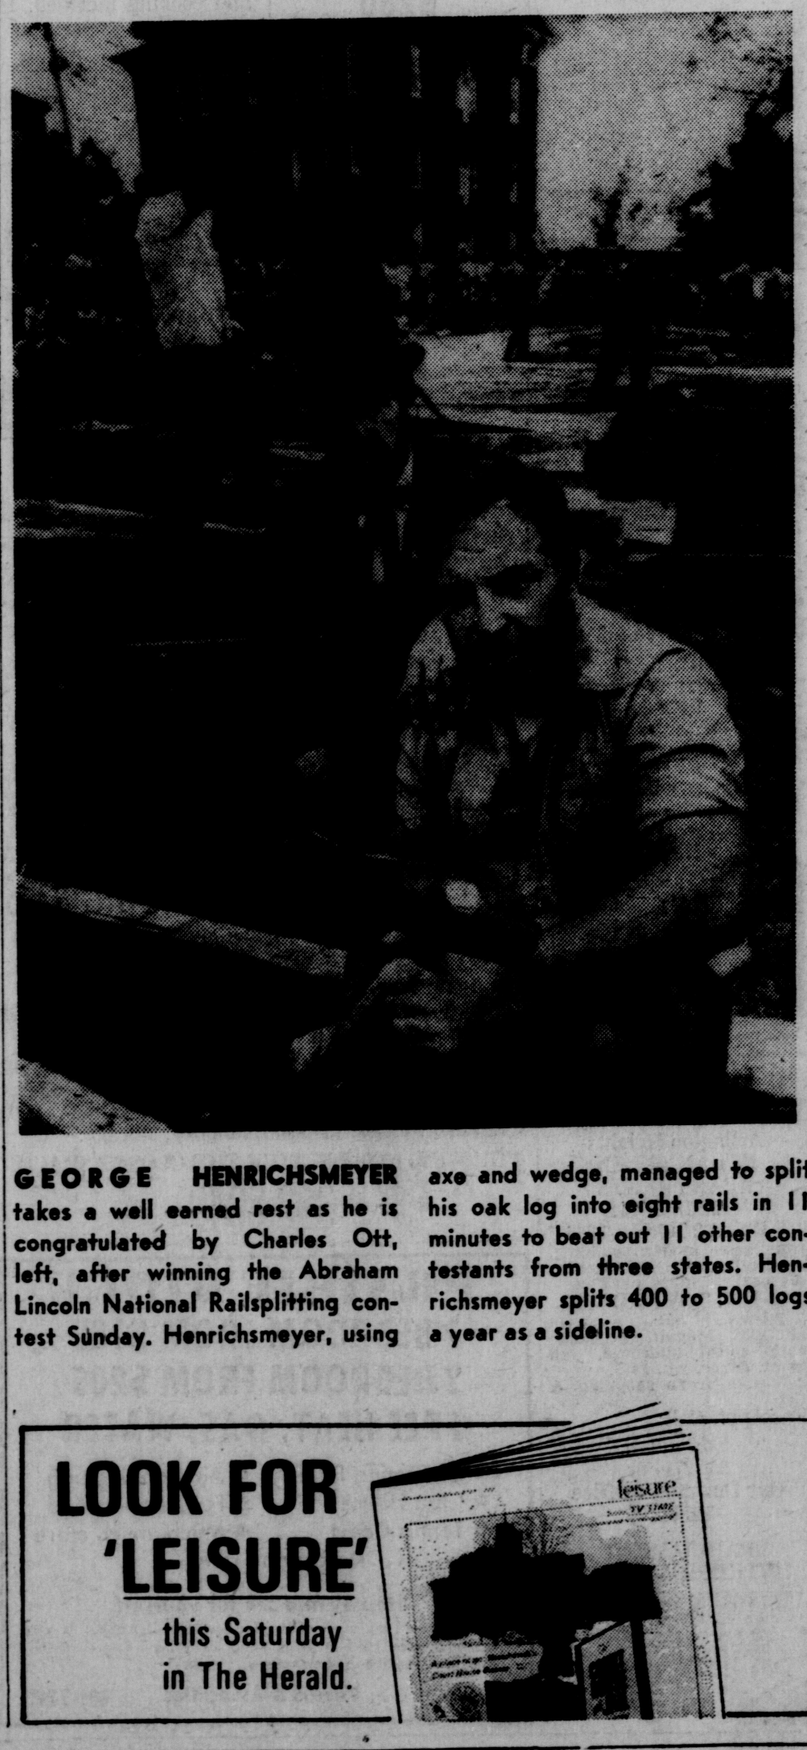
U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said Monday raising the first-class postage rate from a dime to 13 cents would be "excessive." Simon said a two-penny hike to 12 cents would be "more than adequate since each penny increase brings in $600 million."

However, Simon said the chances of getting a boost below 13 cents are not good.

Former U of C trustee dies

Glen A. Lloyd, Chicago attorney and former chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Chicago, died Sunday at his ranch near Alamosa, Colo., at the age of 80. Lloyd, a resident of Libertyville, Ill., was chairman of the university's trustees from 1956 to 1963 during which time the endowment rose $166 million to $245 million and its operating expenditures nearly doubled. He played a leading role in the construction of the university's law school building.

Survivors include his widow, Marion, two daughters, a son, a sister, Mrs. Eva L. White, and two brothers, Carl, a Chicago attorney, and Ralph, retired president of Maryville College and former moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.



GEORGE HENRICHSMEYER takes a well earned rest as he is congratulated by Charles Ott, left, after winning the Abraham Lincoln National Railsplitting contest Sunday. Henrichsmeyer, using axe and wedge, managed to split his oak log into eight rails in 11 minutes to beat out 11 other contestants from three states. Henrichsmeyer splits 400 to 500 logs a year as a sideline.

WHEREAS, said special use and rezoning have not been established within one year's time as required by the Zoning Ordinance of this municipality, as amended; and

WHEREAS, the Plan Commission of this Village has held a public hearing, after due publication of notice thereof, all pursuant to law, on the question of rezoning the property herein described in accord with the policy of this municipality as expressed in said Zoning Ordinance, and has made recommendations thereon;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Inverness, Cook County, Illinois that:

SECTION 1: The President and Board of Trustees find that the facts stated in the preamble of this Ordinance are true.

SECTION 2: The Zoning Ordinance of this Village and the Zoning Map which is a part of said Ordinance, as amended, are hereby further amended by reclassifying and rezoning the following described property from the A-3 (multiple family) Zoning District to A-1 (residence) Zoning District:

The East ½ of the North-East of the Third Principal west ¼ of Section 29, Township 42 North, Range 10, Meridian in Cook County, Illinois.

SECTION 3: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of its passage, approval and publication as required by law.

New claims drop

Unemployment numbers stable

The number of Illinoisans seeking unemployment benefits remained virtually unchanged last week, but the number of new claims dropped by 13.5 per cent.

The Illinois Dept. of Labor announced that 228,526 persons filed unemployment claims in the week ending Sept. 6. That represented a drop of .7 per cent — 1,608 persons — over the previous week.

Among those claims were initial filings by 14,246 persons, down 13.5 per cent from the previous week.

In Cook and DuPage counties, the number of unemployment claims totaled 130,539, a decrease of 8 per cent from the previous week. Unemployment claims in the Chicago-DuPage area, however, were 202 per cent higher than one year ago.

Campaign manager named

A Chicago attorney, James L. Fletcher, was named as campaign manager Monday by former U.S. Atty. James R. Thompson, a Republican candidate for governor.

Fletcher, 32, said he will take a leave of absence from the firm of Burditt and Calkins. George Burditt, one of the partners in the firm was the 1974 Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate against Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, Ill.

Thompson also named Thomas L. Norton, 27, a press aide to Burditt in the senatorial campaign, and Gary L. Stark, 29, formerly an assistant to Thompson, to his campaign staff.

Thompson told a news conference, "Each man shares by belief that only through openness and honesty can we return to Illinois the leadership that the people of this state deserve."

Fund-raising chief picked

Gaylord Freeman, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago, will head fund-raising efforts for President Ford's election campaign in Illinois, it was announced Monday.

The first meeting of the United Republican Fund for the 1976 election campaign is scheduled Wednesday. A URF spokesman said the group will meet soon with Republican officeholders and party officials to coordinate campaign activities.

Freeman said he plans to "appeal widely to all citizens to support President Ford's campaign."

Illinois briefs

Nab gunman after chase

A suspect in a Wilmette robbery spilled money from a shopping bag on the Kennedy Expressway Monday during an auto chase that ended in his capture by Chicago police.

A lone gunman, wearing a Halloween mask, had forced employes of a National Food Store in the Edens Plaza Shopping Center to open a safe before store hours.

The intruder tied up the store manager and two male employes. He then ordered three female employes into the cashier's booth, forcing one to open the safe and taking about $2,000.

A passing motorist reported seeing a man jump a fence near the shopping center and run to a car on the southbound Edens Expressway. Police later halted a car which answered the motorist's description on the Kennedy. Both the fleeing passenger and the driver were taken into custody.

Postal hikes 'excessive'

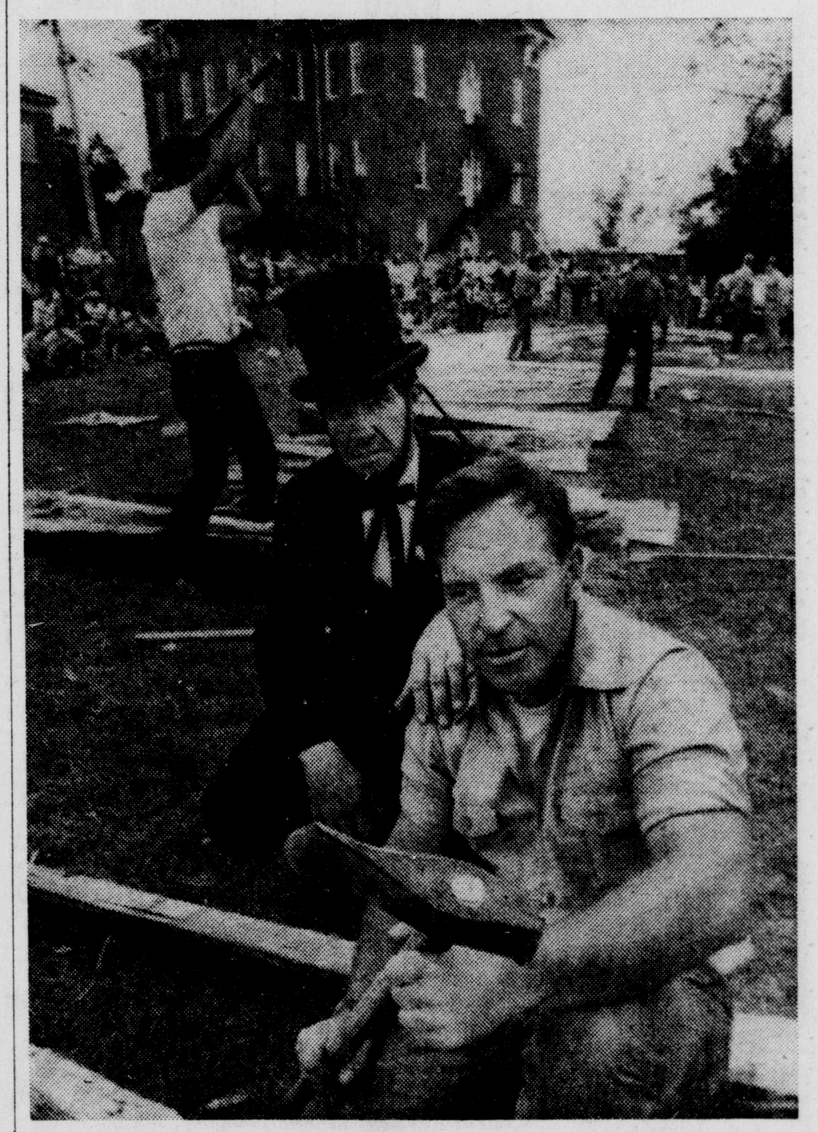
U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said Monday raising the first-class postage rate from a dime to 13 cents would be "excessive." Simon said a two-penny hike to 12 cents would be "more than adequate since each penny increase brings in $600 million."

However, Simon said the chances of getting a boost below 13 cents are not good.

Former U of C trustee dies

Glen A. Lloyd, Chicago attorney and former chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Chicago, died Sunday at his ranch near Alamosa, Colo., at the age of 80. Lloyd, a resident of Libertyville, Ill., was chairman of the university's trustees from 1956 to 1963 during which time the endowment rose $166 million to $245 million and its operating expenditures nearly doubled. He played a leading role in the construction of the university's law school building.

Survivors include his widow, Marion, two daughters, a son, a sister, Mrs. Eva L. White, and two brothers, Carl, a Chicago attorney, and Ralph, retired president of Maryville College and former moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.



GEORGE HENRICHSMEYER takes a well earned rest as he is congratulated by Charles Ott, left, after winning the Abraham Lincoln National Railsplitting contest Sunday. Henrichsmeyer, using axe and wedge, managed to split his oak log into eight rails in 11 minutes to beat out 11 other contestants from three states. Henrichsmeyer splits 400 to 500 logs a year as a sideline.

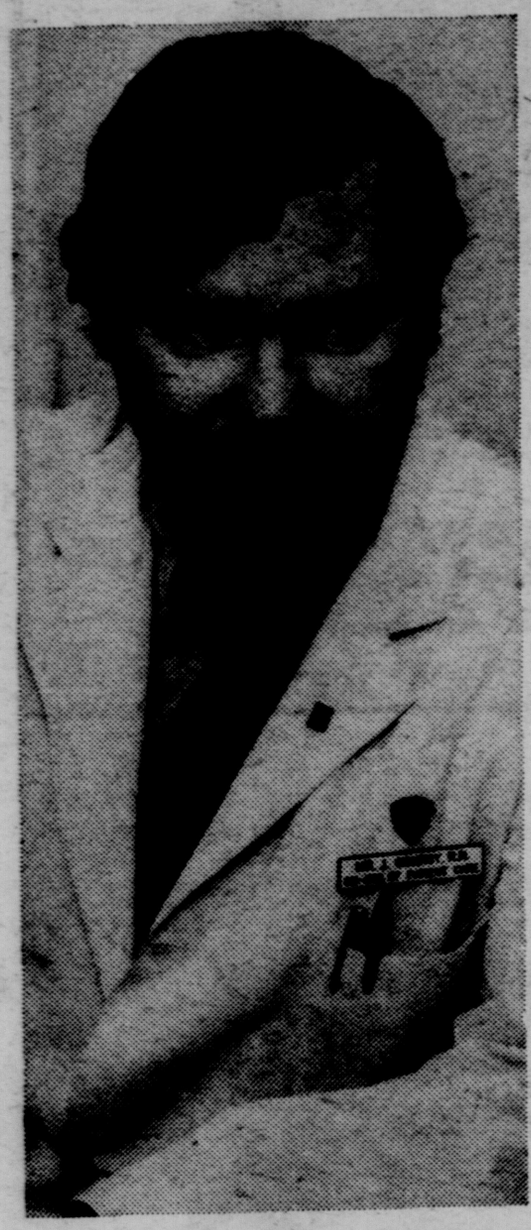
'Do your thing' in job choice



AMONG THOSE CHANGING the public image of the traditional nurse is registered nurse John Conroy, now coordinator of patient care at Alexian Medical Center. John still enjoys visiting patients.

by ELEANOR RIVES

Edna Freifield who runs the family garage in Cedarhurst, Long Island, is convinced that routine auto maintenance can be done by anyone — "even a man."

Joyce Pinkley agrees.

In auto mechanics 20 years, Joyce, her husband, Tom, three of their eight children and several longtime employees run a family type service station and auto repair business in Palatine.

Joyce can do it all. She can diagnose auto problems, write work orders, hunt down parts. She test-drives ailing cars and makes estimates. She does billing, balances books, provides customer transportation.

And, if needed, she is not above pumping gas or selling tires.

EDNA AND JOYCE are two of the burgeoning number of people — both men and women — who have departed from traditional sex role stereotypes to "do their own thing" and who have done it successfully.

Donald Giancaterino and John Conroy are two more. For, if women have the right to pursue whatever vocation they wish, so do men. "Equal opportunity" is for everyone.

Don and John are registered nurses. Both work at Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village. In the past nine years, they have served as staff nurses and as supervisors in pediatrics, medical, surgical, intensive and coronary care. Don is now coordinator of nursing personnel; John is coordinator of patient care.

"Nurses are nurses, and giving good health care doesn't depend on your sex," said Giancaterino.

HARPER COMMUNITY COLLEGE has had three males complete the nursing program to date. Two young men are now in their sophomore year and two have registered as freshmen for the fall term.

At Lutheran General Hospital's School of Nursing, two young men are registered to begin the 33-month program.

A high school student who has already chosen a profession previously reserved for the opposite sex is Nancy Hasenjeger. Enrolled in the Diversified Occupation program at Prospect High, Nancy is working full time this summer as a police cadet with the Mount Prospect Police Department. In 1976 she will enter Harper College and at 21 she intends to put in her application to become a police officer.

"I love it," she said. "I have always wanted to help people and be of service to others."

NO LONGER IS the care of small children routinely assigned to women. Peek into the nearest day care center or nursery school and you are apt to find a college man or two working right along with the women, providing a male figure with whom pre-schoolers can identify.

Jeff Wells, a Harper student, is working at Children's Center for Early Learning in Mount Prospect. He has never been involved with children before.

"I'm interested not only in what I can teach them, but in what I can learn from them," he said. "This is one of the best jobs I ever had. It helps in relationships with all people, not just children."

Enrolled at the center is young Danny Ostrowski whose mother works 44 hours a week as an interne pharmacist. Mrs. Michael Ostrowski of Mount Prospect has encountered no prejudice from other pharmacists because of her sex, but a grain of prejudice from the public.

MOTHER OF 2, Elaine Leon of Arlington Heights thoroughly enjoyed working as one of 125 female security guards at the U. S. Open Golf Championship last June at Medinah Country Club.

"IF A MALE, rather than a female, pharmacist questions a prescription, the customer is less likely to be upset," she said. "I guess a woman isn't supposed to be authoritative or assertive."

The interchangeability of careers is growing steadily. With a college background in sociology and psychology, Lewis Mattox of Arlington Heights went to work as an airline steward. Nita Stamm of Mount Prospect dons hard hat and hip boots when she checks the sewer lines in Elk Grove Township. Elaine Leon of Arlington Heights and Jean Clair of Hanover Park enjoyed every minute of their job as security guards at the recent U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Society no longer points a finger and decrees, "You can't do that job!" Instead it whispers, "If you want to do it, if you can do it well, it's the job for you."

CHECKING LIFT pump controls, part of the Elk Grove Township sewer system, is all in a day's work for Nita Stamm, a woman working in what is usually considered a man's job. She often goes out in the field to assess drainage problems and considers them "an engineering challenge."

Jewelry takes classic theme

Fall . . . you can do it lots of ways and it still stays feminine, pretty, even romantic. With today's fashions, precious jewelry affirms the positive, emphasizing what's new while making news, too. And the best combinations favor simplicity, notes the Jewelry Industry Council.

The suit, for instance: frankly classic with stock tie blouse, culotte skirt; add a long or super long rope of beads. Color plus gold or silver, pearls plus onyx tiger's eye travel the lengths.

The body dress: simplicity itself, easy over the body yet delineating, relying on fabric and color for impact. Wear it with a sculptured collar of gold or silver and a semi-precious stone center . . . mini sculptures on fine chains and multiple in number . . . a short necklace of colored beads with a detachable diamond studded dangle.

The Chinese influence of practical quilting, side closures, distinctive bold lacquers with carved bracelets rowed up the arm, carved jade pendants and jade and ivory beads layered with fine silver chains are very evident this year.

Baroque pearls hang singly on long chains so their mysterious shapes can have full fashion impact with things Oriental. So too the baby Biwa pearls, adding the fillip of their extraordinary petiteness to the expanse of gold chains.

A diamond encrusted animal kingdom is Orientally soothing on shorter beaded necklaces, narrow bangles and rings.

Evening looks are naturally bare. Pants are newly under tunics. Jumpsuits thrive. Covered up comes with thin strands winding, winding round the neck; wrist-hugging cuffs in shiny or hammered precious metals, their combos and stone inserts; enameled rings, gold rings with diamond shine spiraling over their delicate shapes.

Hoods are an enterprising fashion. Scarves wrap heads in layers. Shawls cover shoulders. Pins find a prominent place on them all: bold designs in gold with bold colors from unusual stones, enameling; the pampered pets; the simple bar pins.

Belts gather in the waist with necessary touches of gold.

Earrings are hoops or buttons also importantly touched with gold and displaying a paint box of color from stones out to rival fall.

Diamonds and platinum, that rare precious metal once more enjoying a triumph of design, shed a new light overall, bringing precious perfection to a peak for the fall of '75.

Jewelry takes classic theme

Fall . . . you can do it lots of ways and it still stays feminine, pretty, even romantic. With today's fashions, precious jewelry affirms the positive, emphasizing what's new while making news, too. And the best combinations favor simplicity, notes the Jewelry Industry Council.

The suit, for instance: frankly classic with stock tie blouse, culotte skirt; add a long or super long rope of beads. Color plus gold or silver, pearls plus onyx tiger's eye travel the lengths.

The body dress: simplicity itself, easy over the body yet delineating, relying on fabric and color for impact. Wear it with a sculptured collar of gold or silver and a semi-precious stone center . . . mini sculptures on fine chains and multiple in number . . . a short necklace of colored beads with a detachable diamond studded dangle.

The Chinese influence of practical quilting, side closures, distinctive bold lacquers with carved bracelets rowed up the arm, carved jade pendants and jade and ivory beads layered with fine silver chains are very evident this year.

Baroque pearls hang singly on long chains so their mysterious shapes can have full fashion impact with things Oriental. So too the baby Biwa pearls, adding the fillip of their extraordinary petiteness to the expanse of gold chains.

A diamond encrusted animal kingdom is Orientally soothing on shorter beaded necklaces, narrow bangles and rings.

Evening looks are naturally bare. Pants are newly under tunics. Jumpsuits thrive. Covered up comes with thin strands winding, winding round the neck; wrist-hugging cuffs in shiny or hammered precious metals, their combos and stone inserts; enameled rings, gold rings with diamond shine spiraling over their delicate shapes.

Hoods are an enterprising fashion. Scarves wrap heads in layers. Shawls cover shoulders. Pins find a prominent place on them all: bold designs in gold with bold colors from unusual stones, enameling; the pampered pets; the simple bar pins.

Belts gather in the waist with necessary touches of gold.

Earrings are hoops or buttons also importantly touched with gold and displaying a paint box of color from stones out to rival fall.

Diamonds and platinum, that rare precious metal once more enjoying a triumph of design, shed a new light overall, bringing precious perfection to a peak for the fall of '75.

Accessories spark outfits

This fall's woman will choose her accessories well, to complete the total look or spice up her outfit.

Scarves and shawls make the most dramatic statement this season. Scarves wrap heads, become ascots, match skirts, hats and gloves. The fabrics: crochet knits, exotic crepes and silks, vibrant Oriental prints and men's fresh shirting fabrics.

Hats make headlines in brimmy felt fedoras, wool turbans and draped wool hoods. The classic beret goes everywhere, as do skinny stockingcaps fitted tight to the head. The coolie hat is an Oriental whimsey, the fur toque a luxury and the scarf hat omnipresent.

Jewelry is clean and uncluttered. Attention is on the neckline with simple strand necklaces, bold pendants, Oriental pendants, charm necklaces and sculptured dangles. The bracelet is more often a simple tight-fitted cuff of silver, amber, cinnabar, leather or "marble."

Coat shapes go slimmer

Coat shapes are slimmer or appear less bulky. Jackets have the newest shapes: quilted cottons with toggle closings and kimono jackets. In coats, check out the fur trims, frog closings and patterned knit sweater effects.

Hoods are everywhere. Layered coats are another big look: a raincoat over a shinecoat partner. Big rain slickers are lined with plaid wool. Capecoats are dashing warm-ups.

Scarves and shawls are used as warm-ups over suits, as capes or serapes.

Outdoor sportsmen dress in style

by JIM COOK

Outdoor enthusiasts are choosing from a complete line of fashionable outerwear to complement their recreational pastimes.

A stylish appearance is becoming as vitally significant as that favorite lure, shotgun or ski slope.

Ability is no longer the sole measuring stick for calculating one's outdoor prowess. Casting in the middle of a tree, emptying three rounds unsuccessfully at a winging target or snowballing down a hill now seem acceptable as long as one looks good doing it.

THE OUTDOOR clothing industry has obliged the appearance-conscious sportsman with a vast wardrobe that emphasizes style, comfort and practicality.

The sophisticated stream and river angler demands lightweight insulation from the icy current and gets it with a polyvinyl-coated fishing vest, nylon rubberized chest waders, a nylon fishing creel with sponge rubber backing and, of course, a trademark of a perforated straw hat that resembles a pin cushion of homemade flies, nymphs and leaders.

The nylon-rayon quality of material insures flexibility for casting, reeling, wading and netting and is most popularly seen in green or brown camouflage designs.

STILL ANOTHER stylish accessory gaining wide acceptance by fishermen is a pair of polarized sunglasses that reflect the sun's blinding glare.

Today's hunter is perhaps the most vividly-colored participant in the outdoor field, but not completely by choice.

Those toting shotguns in the deer woods are required to wear a cap and vest or upper outer garment of solid red, yellow or orange.

The fluorescent orange clothing (also called blaze orange or hunter orange) has been deemed the safest by the 17 states that have adopted it for at least some type of hunting.

ONLY WATERFOWL and wild turkey would be spooked by the vibrant color since visibility is not a factor in scaring upland game and big game are color-blind.

In addition to the proper color sequence, gunners are also interested in a fabric that will not mildew, waterlog or rot. Nylon, coated with urethane, seems to fill the bill while also resisting wear, stains and chemicals.

The latest in hunter's outerwear is a reversible jacket that sports a camouflage appearance on the inside to accommodate the waterfowl, small game, bird or bow hunter and a blaze orange reverse side for deer shotgunners.

Active skiers, meanwhile, desire maneuverability.

The swift downhill racers demand the sleek styling of form-fitting outfits while cross country specialists enjoy color-coordinated suits that include matching nylon-stretch outfits, gloves and caps.

BULKY-KNIT SWEATERS are fine around the lodge's cozy fireplace, but are fighting a losing battle with nylon and denim outfits.

In the skier's sister sport of snowmobiling, colorful one-piece suits stress warmth and protection from the elements with an inter-filler lining.

The time-tested two-piece ensembles include eye-catching leather-look jackets, fur and high-knit collars, snap-down pockets and usually a contrasting colored belt. Coordinated gloves and helmets top off the fashionable snowmobiler.

If looks could kill, the stylish outdoor recreationalist would be deadly.

TREAT YOURSELF to a new hairstyle this fall. Judy Sommers is pleased with her new coiffure as Carol Albiniak, from the Casa Maria Beauty Shop in Prospect Heights, adds a few finishing touches.

COLD WEATHER sportsmen will appear on the slopes or trails in colorful one- or two-piece outfits that stress warmth and protection from the elements.

New designs in rainwear

Into each life some rain must fall, but with the attractive new rainwear designers are coming up with, stormy weather can be a fashion experience this season.

Lines are straight and narrow, or smocked and shaped. Balmacaan and raglan styling is still popular for fall but the newest designs are slimming down smartly.

The Oriental influence is visible in rainwear, with quilting as well as frog, toggle and side closings, adding important detailing.

Eyeglasses gain fashion status

When Dorothy Parker in 1927 wrote, "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses," she summed up well the public's attitude toward eyewear.

Fashion models were never photographed wearing glasses. Members of the general public usually removed eyeglasses before having a picture taken. Glasses on men were considered a sign of weakness, on women unbecoming and unfeminine.

But today eyeglasses are as important a fashion accessory as scarves and jewelry and very beneficial, too, to persons who require them.

Howard Ross, president of House of Vision, an optical firm celebrating its 50th anniversary this year, believes that the population explosion of the '40s and the growing awareness of the public and schools of the need for proper eyewear, are the two trends responsible for the growing acceptance and popularity of glasses.

BEFORE THAT time, manufacturers presented few styles from which to choose. In the '20s, wire rim and rimless glasses were worn, and in the '30s, dark plastic frames came into the market. Shapes were generally small and round, about the size of the eye area.

The upswept look featuring rhinestones first developed in Paris but quickly caught on in this country. Women wore them on special occasions, trading off with pastel-colored frames for day. Soon fashion magazines began advising women on the correct shades of glasses for their individual hair colors and skin tones.

The 1960s brought in a variety of new frame shapes including square and ovals. Glamour magazines continued to offer advice. It became chic to coordinate the shape of frame with the shape of one's face.

YET NOT until the '70s arrived did eyeglasses play such an influence in fashion. And because they have, there are more styles and frames from which to choose than ever before.

Wire rims are still big sellers though oversized plastic frames in a variety of pastel shades are the current look.

Whatever color one wears best in clothes will be true for eyeglasses, people are now being told.

A number of physical aspects of the glasses themselves have contributed to their increased popularity. The oversized look in frames, tinted lenses in shades such as amber and pink, and wire rims larger and sturdier than their 1920s counterparts have made eyeglasses psychologically more appealing.

THE INFLUENCE of public figures wearing a particular style of glasses has also added to general acceptance. Jackie Kennedy's oversized sunglasses in the '60s were a big hit and Gloria Steinem started a new trend with her aviator-shaped frames.

"Hem lines may go up and down, hairstyles may be short or long, but eyeglasses are here to stay," predicts Ross. "We've seen a tremendous change in consumer attitudes toward eyewear in the past 50 years — to the benefit of the eyewear industry as well as the public."

THE UPSWEPT, Rhinestone studded frames typified glasses of the '50s. "The fancier the better," comments House of Vision president Howard Ross of that particular era and eyeglass styles.

Recycle glasses

How many pairs of old eyeglasses have you collected through the years? Maybe they are too out of style or unsuitable for you to wear anymore, but old eyeglasses can be recycled.

The Illinois Optometric Association in Chicago accepts all cast-offs. Working closely with several optometry students who are concerned with the lack of eye testing for migrant workers, particularly along the border states, the association accepts old eyeglasses, neutralizes the lenses and fixes the frames in order that they can be reused.

Send eyeglasses directly to Illinois Optometric Association, 211 E. Chicago Ave., Suite 1201, Chicago, Ill. 60611. You'll help someone else see a little better.

Dresses in style

The dress has never looked better, now that it's got together with the right slim shoe shapes and tall boots. It's the most important part of fall fashion.

The sexiest dresses are skinny sirens, slinking close to the body in angora jersey or luscious cashmeres. Two-piece dresses with roomy tops and fluid skirts make themselves comfortable everywhere.

Evening suits come in velvet with silk and chenille, in flannel and satin. Look for pajama suits and neat dinner suits with velvet skirts.

Earth tones dominate men's apparel

SOLID COLORS will dominate men's clothing this fall, so this nailhead weave wool suit is appropriately teamed with a bright paisley tie. Styled by Christian Dior, the suit features tailored shoulders and custom-notched lapels. Tailoring is by Hart Schaffner & Marx.

Whether they know it or not, people choose colors in their wardrobe for a reason.

Feeling blue, seeing red, being green with envy . . . all are expressions which convey the relationships between moods and colors.

Most psychologists agree that taste in colors is indicative of personality traits and mood characteristics.

The colors you wear say a lot about you.

"Earth tones will continue to dominate this fall's male apparel with rust, brown, beige, green and blue prevailing, according to Burton Ruby, president of Jaymar-Ruby, a men's sportswear manufacturer.

What does this mean to a man's personality? "In general, he'll be cool, calm and collected," said Don Cardwell, a color specialist, an individual trained in the relationships between colors, moods and people.

ACCORDING TO Cardwell, "The softer colors represent no specific emotion. They are put together on a more mental and less emotional basis. Greens, blues and yellow-green combinations, which are also big for fall, are 'cool' colors. They're relatively tranquil, sedate and passive. Browns generally show someone who's conscientious yet strong in his ways," he added.

Psychologists have found that men who like cool colors have a more detached attitude toward life. They are usually more introspective, deliberate and more attractive to their own inner existence than to outside distractions.

Men who like bright reds and oranges tend to be vibrant and impulsive. Psychologists refer to such individuals as having color-dominant personalities. These people tend to be extroverted. They're impressionable, social and active.

EMOTIONALLY, the red or long end of the color spectrum is exciting, the blue end is subdued. Physiologically and psychologically, the same sort of complementation exists. Stimulation to the eye by color affects the automatic nervous system — heart, lungs, etc.

It is a proven fact that vivid colors such as red tend to prod this stimulation and lead to a rise in pulse rate, blood pressure and muscle tenseness.

Conversely, cool colors tend to release the stimulation and put the individual physically and emotionally at ease.

- Red: impulsive and emotional.
- Orange: convivial and warm.
- Yellow: alert and intelligent.
- Green: tranquil and free from anxiety.
- Blue: sedate, able to control emotions.
- Violet: indicative of artistic talent.

THAT'S WHAT color means, but how to use it effectively is another matter.

In most cases this fall, men's clothing will be neatly patterned, geometric and colorful but not boldly so. Solid colors are most predominant so that coordination problems of past seasons are at an all-time low.

When shopping, it is wise to make a list of clothes already in the wardrobe so they aren't forgotten when purchases are considered. A list will make choosing a mix and match wardrobe easier.

If a suit is a solid color, complementing solid colors in vests, shirts and ties or patterns blend well. With a solid color base to work from there are many more alternatives and less chance for the eye-striking mismatches that often crop up in the male attire.

IF PATTERNS are used, the look is more coordinated if the pattern picks up the color of the suit, but this is not absolutely necessary. A green and blue check vest, for instance, blends with a gray suit even if grey is never seen in the vest.

Shadings of one color often offer ideas for combinations. Blue proves the point. Bright or dark blue are naturals for a pale blue accent item. Dark blue slacks and pale blue sportcoat suggests a third shade of blue perhaps in the tie.

Actor George Hamilton, a regular on the best dressed lists, says, "The well-dressed man seeks an understated look but one that will be readily recognized by other well-dressed men as being in."

If in doubt about what looks best with what, stick to the basics and toned down accessories.

Remodeling your home? Here are some tips

by Barbara Ladd

The do-it-yourself craze worked up to a $20-billion business last year, according to recent statistics. And a Mount Prospect author, who wrote the book, "Help! I Want to Remodel My Home," said the increasing interest was due to boredom and labor costs.

"With the school season coming up, women at home will become bored and want to fix up their homes," said Ann Sutherland Augustin, the book's author.

By doing most of the work yourself you can save between 50 to 60 per cent of the total project's cost, she added. "Labor today is expensive."

THERE ARE OTHER advantages to doing the work yourself, she said.

"There's a pride of accomplishment." Usually you will do a better job when it's your own home involved, she said, and in addition, by saving on the cost of labor, you might be able to afford better quality or more expensive materials.

Ms. Augustin has remodeled both Mount Prospect homes she lived in and said she got started because she wanted to do things to her home that she couldn't afford. Remodeling the basements were the hardest and longest jobs for her.

She recommends doing one project at a time "because otherwise there's too much of a mess."

"YOU DON'T WANT to wade through the whole house," she laughed.

Tom and Letty Wageman of Elk Grove Village have other tips on remodeling and decorating.

"I always work from the bottom," said Mrs. Wageman. "Choosing carpeting first provides a starting point for decorating."

Carpeting can be found throughout the Wageman house. "Not only is carpeting easier to maintain but adds a more cozy and comfortable effect," she said.

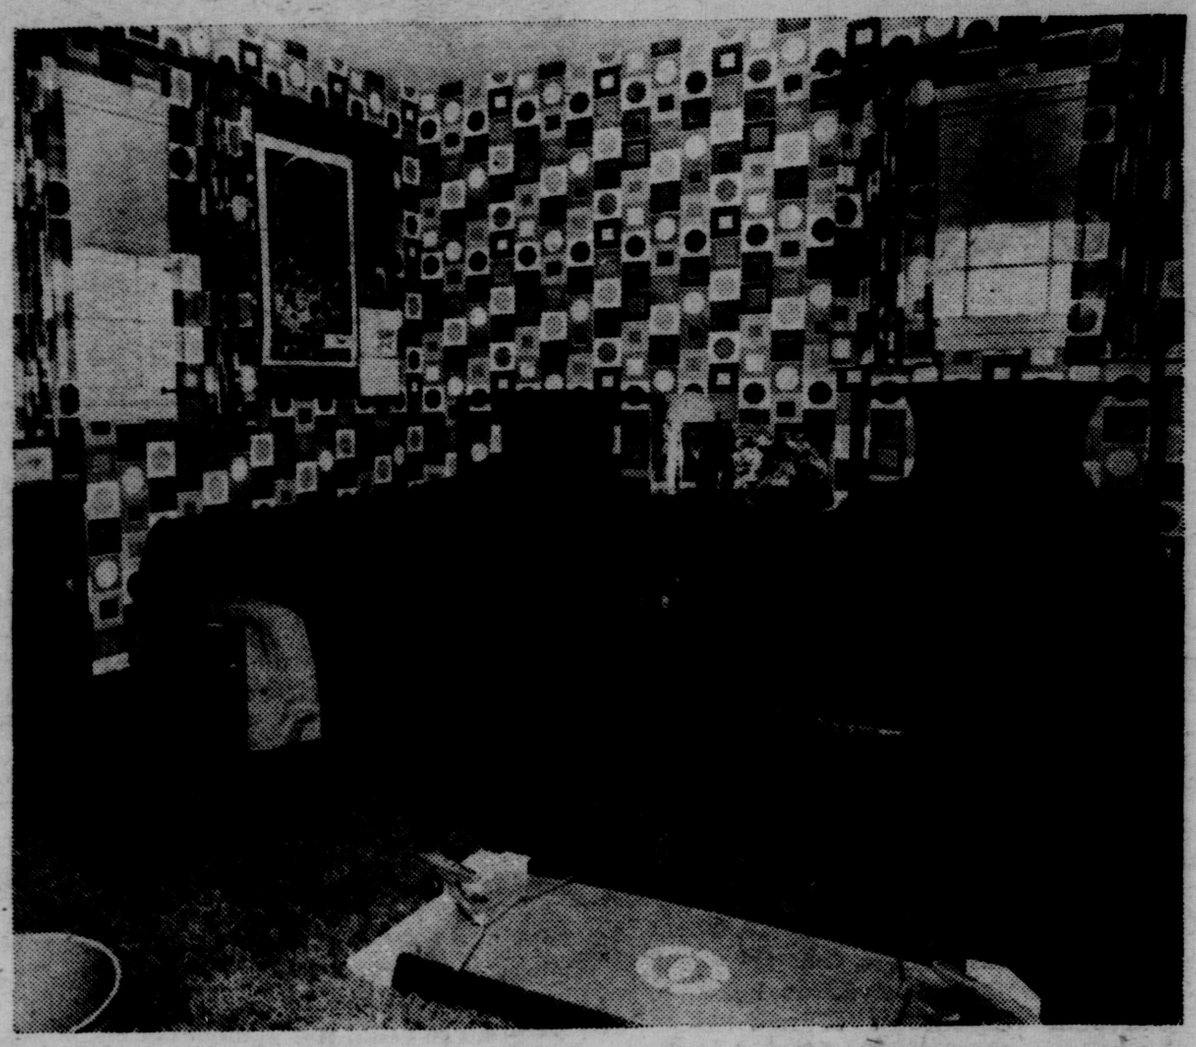
She said she thinks wallpaper is much more interesting than painted walls and liberally used patterns of orange, black, yellow and brown flowers in the kitchen. Cool greens are featured in the dining and living areas.

"THIS IS THE second home we've done so we've learned to do things we like at a minimum cost," said Mrs. Wageman. "We've also learned to do projects that are somewhat portable so they don't have to be left behind."

For those who, unlike the Wageman's, have not remodeled their homes or done much do-it-yourself home furnishings, author Augustin listed in her book the basics you will need to know — including the tools needed, how to lay ceramic tile, hang wallpaper, install resilient flooring, and how to begin work on your kitchen, bathroom and basement. Also included is a section on where and how to buy materials and what to avoid.

Her book is aimed primarily toward women, "but it wouldn't hurt the men to read it either," she said.

And as a word of encouragement for newcomers on the remodeling scene, she said, "If I could do it, they can do it."



BRIGHT WALLPAPER patterns and matching curtains set off the Wageman boys' bedroom in Elk Grove Village. The carpeting and simulated fur bedspreads add a rich texture to help take the edge off the bold, abstract walls.

Flowers in bathroom

If you're wondering where all the flowers have gone, look in the bathroom this fall. Lovely floral prints are decorating shower curtains, window curtains and accessories this season, judging from recent showings.

Patchwork prints, geometric prints, stripes, batik-look designs and patriotic prints are some of the other decorator looks bathrooms will be wearing for fall.

Browns and earth tones, yellows and greens will be brightening up many a bathroom this season, according to predictions.

Early American

Bicentennial motifs and concepts have a strong influence on home furnishings designs for 1975-76. Antiques and reproductions are extremely popular, along with patchwork quilt designs, crewel, embroidery, samplers, calico, natural linens, authentic Colonial shapes and handicrafts.

Women make inroads toward legal equality

Despite the failure of the Equal Rights Amendment to be ratified so far, women have been making some inroads toward legal and social equality on both the state and federal levels. But much discrimination persists.

In the Illinois legislature some 80 bills were introduced in the last session that would eliminate sex discrimination in Illinois laws. A handful of these bills were passed and await the governor's signature. The rest will be introduced again in the upcoming session.

Among these is a measure to end sex discrimination in the granting of credit. A study by the Commission on the Status of Women found that:

• MORE THAN one-third of the state's lenders surveyed do not take into account the income of married women when granting loans to married couples.

• Forty per cent take into account whether a woman is in childbearing years in evaluating a credit application, and 7 per cent ask what kind of contraception she uses.

• Twenty per cent do not grant credit to a woman in her own name, even when she is the sole breadwinner in the family.

All three of these practices had already been outlawed at the federal level by the Equal Credit Protection Act of 1968. That makes it unlawful for any creditor to discriminate against any applicant on the basis of sex or marital status.

CREDITORS are specifically forbidden to ask about a woman's contraceptive, and are forbidden to inquire about marital status unless it is to ascertain the creditor's rights and remedies.

On the issue of equal pay for equal work, surveys indicate that while a broad spectrum of society agrees that this is a right, in practice women are still paid significantly less than men for the same work in a wide range of jobs, both professional and non-professional.

The 1970 census showed that working women with a high school education earned a median income of $5,000 in 1969, only 56 per cent of the median earned by men of equivalent age and education. Women with four years of college earned $7,200, or 55 per cent of the $13,100 earned by their male counterparts.

One of the bills passed in the Illinois legislature this year would give the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission the authority to initiate discrimination cases against private companies that show such patterns, instead of having to wait for a woman to bring suit against her employer.

WOMEN HAVE increasingly seized on other legal rights, such as keeping their own name after marriage and entering the professions of their choice.

For example, last year's enrollment in medical schools increased to 22 per cent women. However, the number of women in the medical profession in the U.S. still lags far behind some other countries. Only 8.2 per cent of the physicians in the U.S. are women, while 70 per cent of physicians in the Soviet Union are women, 50 per cent in Poland, and 43 per cent in the Philippines.

Still, women in this country and others who have become physicians say they are blocked by social traditions and attitudes from going into specialties other than pediatrics, obstetrics, and internal medicine, and from moving up into adminstrative positions in hospitals and clinics.

Women make inroads toward legal equality

Despite the failure of the Equal Rights Amendment to be ratified so far, women have been making some inroads toward legal and social equality on both the state and federal levels. But much discrimination persists.

In the Illinois legislature some 80 bills were introduced in the last session that would eliminate sex discrimination in Illinois laws. A handful of these bills were passed and await the governor's signature. The rest will be introduced again in the upcoming session.

Among these is a measure to end sex discrimination in the granting of credit. A study by the Commission on the Status of Women found that:

- MORE THAN one-third of the state's lenders surveyed do not take into account the income of married women when granting loans to married couples.
- Forty per cent take into account whether a woman is in childbearing years in evaluating a credit application, and 7 per cent ask what kind of contraception she uses.
- Twenty per cent do not grant credit to a woman in her own name, even when she is the sole breadwinner in the family.

All three of these practices had already been outlawed at the federal level by the Equal Credit Protection Act of 1968. That makes it unlawful for any creditor to discriminate against any applicant on the basis of sex or marital status.

CREDITORS are specifically forbidden to ask about a woman's contraceptive, and are forbidden to inquire about marital status unless it is to ascertain the creditor's rights and remedies.

PERFECT FOR YOUR casual life is this woman's leisure model by Adidas. The Lady Riviera is available in brown velour leather with plain leather trim in sizes 3 through 9½ at $24.50. Best Foot Forward, newly opened in Surrey Ridge shopping center, Golf and Algonquin Roads, Arlington Heights, is an exclusively Adidas store, carrying over 100 different models of shoes, warm-up suits, bags, tee shirts and tank tops.

FOR BUSINESS or pleasure, this comfort suit of Swedish knit by Lu Casini of California, $77, is an important addition to your wardrobe. Bill Mogensen's contrasting shirt is priced at $16. Both are available at the Man's Shop in Countryside Court, Mt. Prospect.

Evening glamour

Glamour that's easy to live with . . . that's the fall evening story. The evening suit, the evening jumpsuit, the Chinese influence, and the soft subtle dress are coming out at night.

The toga dress layers it on in fluid fabrics. The bare long dress exposes back and front, covers up with a shawl. Watch the bare bra under the open shirt for evening exposes, also the strapless wrap-around tubular look.

There are shiny satins and metallics — but few sequins. The dress never outshines the woman.

A CREAM colored polyester suit by Estivo trimmed in rust suede cloth with gold nail heads is appropriate for an afternoon lunch or evening date. $61. Jeannie Drehobel's matching shell is also by Estivo. $13. Her purse, in suede and tortoise, is available in many colors. $21. From Michelle Gabrielle Apparel, 9507 W. Higgins Rd. in Rosemont.

THE PERFECT ACCENT to your fall wardrobe is Indian jewelry from Frederick Jewelers in Mt. Prospect Plaza. Multi stone rings, necklaces and bracelets in silver and turquoise will add that extra touch to your new outfit. Above pieces priced from $47.50 to $360.

T-straps popular for 1975

Stepping into fall '75, women will take a stand in neater, trimmer, less cluttered shoes to underscore the tailored knee-hovering styles of the new season.

One of the trendiest fashion footnotes will be a low-down slip of a shoe with a squared-off heel that feels comfortable, yet looks chic. Heels are block-shaped with square side wall treatments or hardware to add a touch of elegance.

With the return of more dresses and skirts, look for shoes that dress up, and some that go "strap-happy." For example, "T" straps that run up the instep are making tracks, as are leather bands that weave across the vamp to reveal manicured toes. Heels, too, are coming out from under cover with slingback shoes that are gaining popularity.

Shoes hues that are making news this fall are black, making an important return in suede and leather, earth tones from rust to clay, warm browns and greens and camel heading up the neutrals. Navy and burgundy are still important classics that promise to be around for quite some time.

FROM COBBIES, an attractive shoe in Spanish saddle or black, designed to go with both casual and more dressy outfits. $20. From Arlington Bootery in downtown Arlington Heights.

What boys will wear

Patchwork shirts and denim pants will be a favorite little-boy look this fall, say the fashion watchers. Overalls will also be popular this season with the young set, especially in printed corduroy.

Knit shirts continue as tops in tops, now boasting photo-prints and other eye-catching prints.

Brushed denim, checks and plaids will brighten the fall scene, while hooded jackets and leisure jackets will be favored young cover-ups.

SKIRT OR PANTS? Take your pick. Diane Senese, left, wears a machine washable small checked black and white knee length skirt coordinated with a black vest with gold trim and a long sleeve gold turtleneck. Pat Gerken opts for a machine washable pantsuit of polyester and wool. The waist length jacket is accented with silver rings. The pants have an elastic waistband for a good fit. Pat wears a print blouse of 100 per cent polyester. Both outfits from the Clothes Bin in Mt. Prospect.

Suede emerges

Suede emerges as an important look for fall, not only in the obvious coat designs, but even in little girls' outfits.

Inspired in India. Try our bias cut, easy corduroy jumper in camel or dusty blue. Wear it alone or over a shirt or turtleneck. Shown here over a heavy Rosanna acrylic turtleneck that comes in blue, rust, black or ivory. Jumper $23, sweater $14. Both S-M-L.

We will be open on Monday nights as a humane gesture to relieve the boredom of our many nice customers who are football widows during the fall.

A CUE to looking great from Jack's Men's Shop in Mt. Prospect Plaza. Ron Mueller models a Rosemont and Shiers glen plaid suit complete with matching vest, $120. The striped tie, $6.50, and the permanent press shirt by Enro, $13, highlight the outfit.

CUFF BRACELETS and harmonious hoop earrings by Napier are featured at the costume jewelry section of Persin and Robbin Jewelers, 24 S. Dunton Court in Arlington Heights. Available in silver and gold, $6.50 each.

Separates give most for least

Dressing in component parts gets the most looks and fashion for the money. Fabrics are soft yet sturdy . . . corduroys, pre-washed or brushed denim, fuzzy fabrics.

Skirt shapes are slimmer but the soft look continues in dirndls, wraps and half-circles, yoked shirts and button-down looks. A very new skirt from Paris is the slim hip skirt — it buttons up one side over pants or tights.

Pants shape up in jumpsuits, culottes, both slim and full trousers.

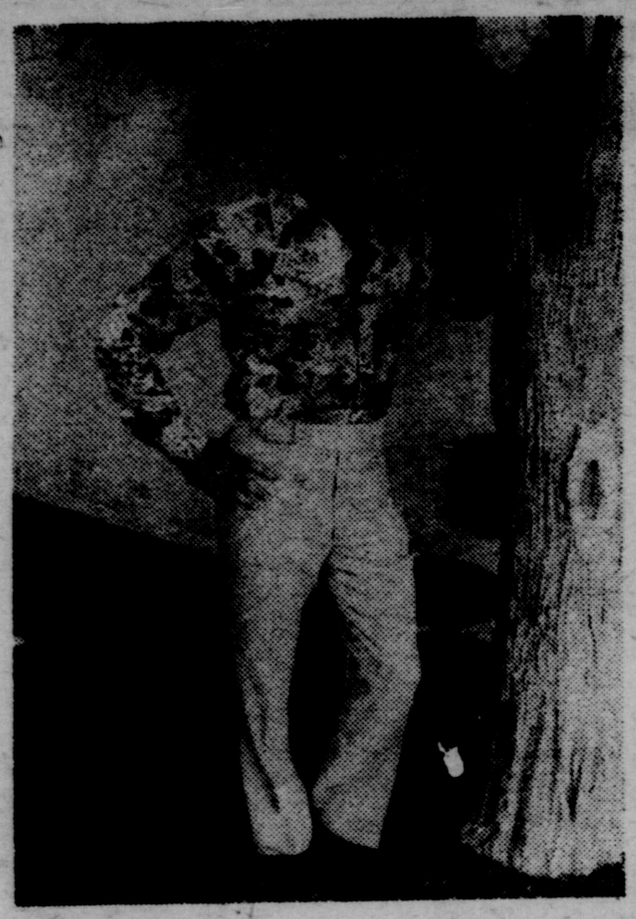
Chez Tomique

Beauty & Boutique

718 BARRINGTON ROAD,
STREAMWOOD, ILL.
(1 Mile North of Irving Pk. Rd.)
289-2100



European trained hair stylist, Mr. Thomas, owner of Chez Tomique, invites you to an experience in true luxury.

Heads up . . . to the look of today !

Use your hair as a fortunate accessory to fashion. Discover our sensational new cuts to complement your fall profile.

Mr. Thomas has owned many salons in the Chicago area and in May of 1973 he came to the northwest suburbs and introduced a progressive concept in styling based on the hair cut created for the individual. This attitude has attracted many top stylists who have been looking for an opportunity to express their creativity.

Because of the increasing demand for the specialized services, we are about to complete the addition of six styling stations and an enlarged permanent wave area with the added convenience of a separate tinting room which is staffed by two expertly trained color specialists. We also offer manicuring and pedicuring services.

Interchange of ideas is the key to progression. Mr. Thomas and Trish Discuss a variation of the wedge cut with fellow stylists.

It's more than styling . . . it's a whole marvelous mood. A luxurious atmosphere accompanied by a cordial receptionist.
